머 리 말

위대한 령도자 김정일원수님께서는 다음과 같이 말씀하시였다.

《자라나는 새세대들이 중등일반교육에서 주는 기초과학분야의 일반지식과 한가지이상의 외국어를 소유하게 되면 유능한 기술자, 전문가로 될수 있는 과학리론적기초를 튼튼히 닦을수 있습니다.》

위대한 령도자 김정일원수님께서 중학교단계에서 한가지이상의 외국어를 소유할데 대하여 주신 말씀을 높이 받들고 6학년영어교과서는 학생들이 영어로 듣고 말하고 읽고 쓰는 기능을 높은 수준에서 완성할수 있게 편성되였다.

교과서는 두개의 편으로 구성되였다.

I편에서는 위대한 수령님과 경애하는 장군님의 위대성자료 그리고 학교생활과 가정생활, 사회생활, 세계상식자료와 과학기술상식자료들로 본문을 구성하여 이미 배운 영어지식을 기초로 하여 영어어휘 및 문법지식을 부단한 반복련습을 통하여 공고히 하고 창조적사고능력을 높이며 언어교제활동을 보다 능동적으로 할수 있게 하였다.

이와 함께 듣고 말하는 능력을 충분히 갖출수 있도록 록음자료들을 안받침하여주었다.

II편에서는 위대한 수령 김일성대원수님의 회고록과 위대한 령도자 김정일원수님의 불후의 고전적로작 그리고 영문으로 된 소설과 여러 분야의 기초과학기술자료들로 본문을 구성하였으며 입말련습, 어휘련습, 문법련습, 글쓰기련습과 같은 다양한 련습을 통하여 해당 본문을 언어실천에서 충분히 활용할수 있게 하여 여러가지 일반적인 과학기술도서들과 간단한 문학작품을 높은 수준에서 읽고 번역하며 자기 의사를 영어로 자유자재로 표현할수 있는 영어지식과 실천능력을 소유할수 있게 하였다.

학생들은 위대한 령도자 김정일원수님의 말씀을 가슴깊이 새기고 배우고 배우고 또 배워 학교기간에 한가지이상의 외국어를 완전히 소유하여야 할것이다.

Song of General Kim Jong Il

1. Mount Paektu reaches across
To shape our beautiful land.
Cheers resound all over the land
Hailing our dear General.
He's the leader of the people
Carrying forward the Sun's cause.
Long live, long live, General Kim Jong Il.

2. All blossoms on this earth
Tell of his love, broad and warm.
Blue East and West seas sing
His exploits in their song.
He is the artist of great joy
Glorifying the garden of Juche.
Long live, long live, General Kim Jong Il.

3. Socialist cause he defends
With iron will and courage.
He raises national honour
Far and wide throughout the world.
He is the champion of justice
Standing for independence.
Long live, long live, General Kim Jong Il.

PART I

Theme A World Resources

Unit 1

Topic and Language

The World's Population

1 Discussion People, everywhere

1.1 Where you live

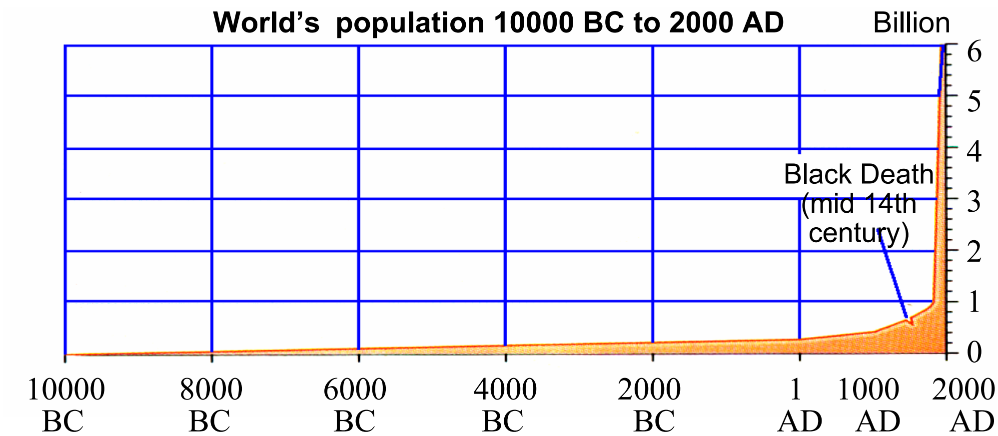

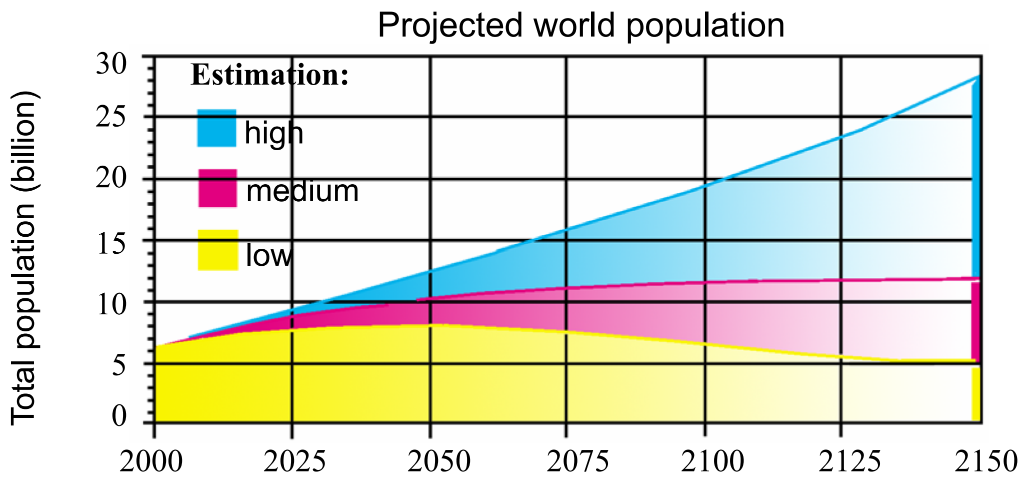

Look at the pictures. What is the population of the area where you live? Does it feel empty or crowded? Has the population increased or decreased in the last 10—20 years? Are there more or fewer young people? Where do you think it is more crowded-countryside or a city?

1.2 A population explosion?

Look at the graphs. How can you describe the growth in population? Tell the class your ideas.

Discuss the population between before and after the liberation of our country.

Is there any difference?

What about the lifespan before and after the liberation?

How do you presume about the future population?

2 Reading Preparing for the future

2.1 Learning from the past

Work in a small group. Skim the text very quickly and then note down anything you remember. Tell the others in your group.

2.2 Read carefully

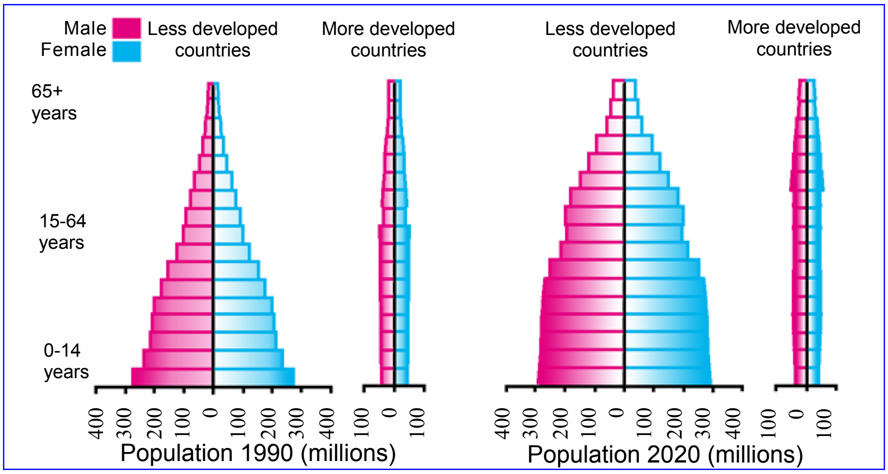

Read the text carefully. Copy and complete the chart for each continent.

	Asia	Africa	Europe problem reason

What do you think is the effect of each problem?

Population Conference Learns from the Past

The population conference in Brasilia has now ended. One of the aims of the conference was for countries from each continent to look back at past experiences and to learn from them for the future.

In Asia

The problem in Asia is not just population growth but also overcrowding in many cities. Traditionally, most people have lived in the countryside, but within the next 25 years more than 65% will live in cities. If Asian countries had expected this kind of change 20 years ago, they would have tried to provide more work and better education in the countryside. This is starting to happen now.

In Africa

In Africa, the problems of the future will be very different. There, the population is doubling every 24 years. Many families continue to have large numbers of children to look after older people and to help on the land. However, better medical services have increased life expectancy and more children survive to become adults. Research shows that the size of the family is connected with the standard of women's education. If more girls had gone to school in the last 20 years, family size in Africa would probably not have continued to be so big.

In Europe

Population problems are different in different parts of the world. For example, in many European countries the population is getting older. The birthrate is very low because many young people have only one child or none at all. People are living longer, too. By 2050 around 25% of the population of some European countries will be over 60 years old. This change has happened very fast—within two generations. If governments had expected this change, they would have encouraged people to prepare more for old age. At the moment many old people are very lonely and very poor.

Inside the Text

A Check your understanding

Are these statements true, false or not in the text?

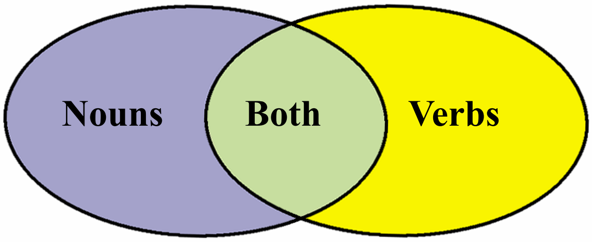

1. The conference was about Brazil.
2. In some parts of the world the population is increasing very fast.
3. Population problems are the same everywhere.
4. Medicine has changed population patterns.
5. Cities everywhere are becoming larger and larger.
6. Many old people are very poor in Europe.

B Nouns and verbs

Find these words in the text. Are they nouns or verbs in the text? Copy the diagram and write the words in the correct circle.

adult	aim	double	experience	generation
happen	help	increase	provide	research

Some of the words can be verbs and nouns. Which ones? Check your ideas in a dictionary and then write the correct words in the 'Both' section.

C Say it clearly! Intonation of question tags

➡ Do you remember?

Do you remember how to use question tags? If your voice goes down at the end, you are saying 'I'm sure I'm right.'. If your voice goes up at the end, you are checking and saying 'Is that true?'.

For example: Food is the main problem, isn't it? (= I know I'm right.)

Food is the main problem, isn't it? (= I'm not sure.)

Listen and repeat the interviewer's questions.

INTERVIEWER: Food is the main problem, isn't it?

DR REINMARIS: Yes, that's right.

INTERVIEWER: In general, though, people are getting richer, aren't they?

DR REINMARIS: Oh no, poorer, most certainly.

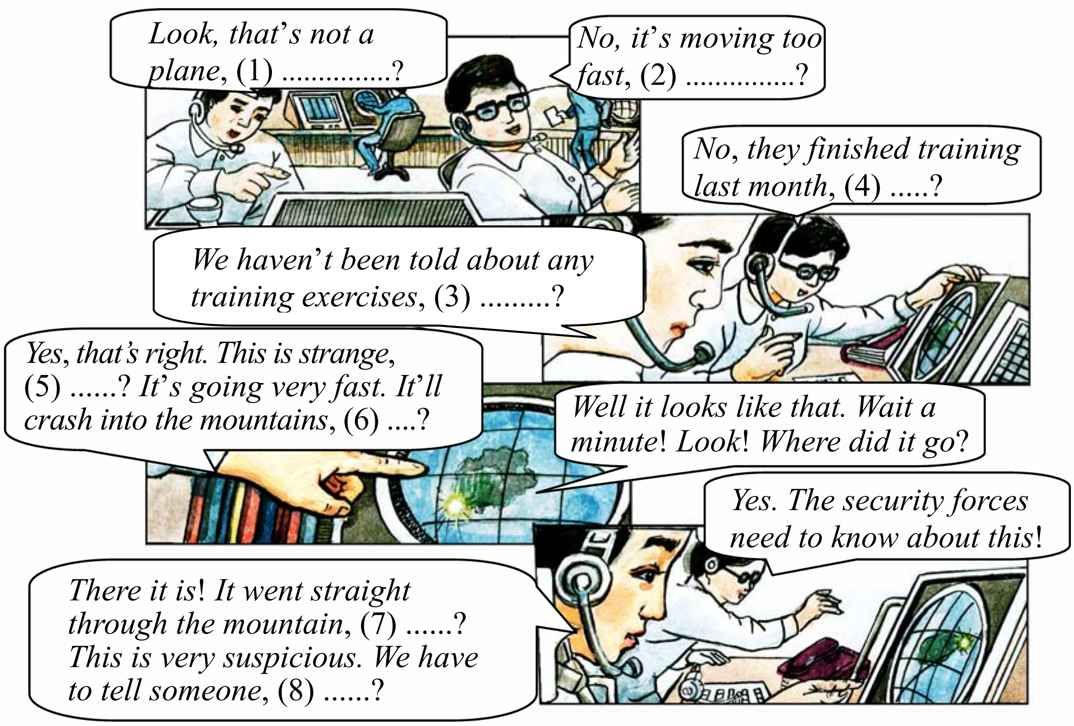

➡ Sure or checking?

Listen to these people. Write 'sure' or 'checking' for each one.

1. You live in the city centre, don't you? ....
2. It's cold today, isn't it? ....
3. You' re older than me, aren't you? ....
4. We've seen that film, haven't we? ....
5. She went there last year, didn't she? ....
6. The world's population is growing fast, isn't it? ....

Complete these sentences with the correct question tag. Read the dialogue aloud. Listen and check your answers.

3 Listening Feeding the world

3.1 What does she say?

Dr Reinmaris is a demographer. She is talking about population growth in the future. Listen and tick (√) the topics she mentions.

1. □ quality of the soil
2. □ world's income
3. □ food
4. □ recycled paper
5. □ saving energy
6. □ how fast the population is rising
7. □ environmental damage
8. □ genetically engineered crops
9. □ climate change
10. □ cash crops

3.2 Listen again

What does Dr Reinmaris say about each topic? Tell the class what you can remember. What do these figures refer to? Listen again and check.

5 billion	10 billion	800 million	82%	1.4%

4 Grammar Third conditional and wishes

4.1 Third conditional

4.1.1 Conditional sentences

In the 4th and 5th years, you saw conditional sentences like these:

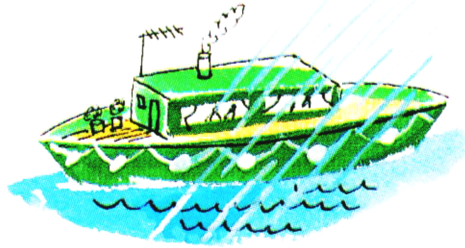

If you don't eat, you get ill.
(zero conditional—it is usually or always true)

If the temperature of the Earth rises, ice at the poles will melt. (first conditional – this is possible)

If it rained every day, we would live in boats. (second conditional – this is impossible or unlikely)

Now look at these sentences. They are examples of the third conditional. How do you say them in Korean?

If people had expected to live so long, they would have read much more books.

If they had provided education for women in Africa, family sizes would have been smaller now.

When do you think you can use the third conditional?

4.1.2 Form and use

You can use the third conditional when you want to talk about an event in the past that did not happen. Here are some more examples:

If Columbus had sailed south (not west), he would have landed in Antarctica.

If cavepeople had lived 85 million years earlier, they would have seen dinosaurs.

How can you describe the third conditional? What is the form of the verb after ‘if’ and after ‘would’?

If ... + ... , ... would + ... + ...

4.1.3 Practice

Can you match the two parts of each sentence to tell the story?

1. If she had not been born in Korea,	a. she would have met her uncle.
2. If she had caught the bus,	b. she wouldn't have written so many books.
3. If she had arrived on time,	c. she would have caught the train.
4. If she had been at home,	d. she would have found my house easily.
5. If she hadn' t graduated from the university,	e. she would have read the book.
6. If she had known my address,	f. she would have arrived on time at the station.
7. If she hadn' t learned how to drive a car,	g. she would not have been so happy.
8. If she had learned Russian,	h. she would not have used the car.

4.1.4 If history had been different, ...

Think about these questions. Work with a partner and write your answers. Tell the class your ideas.

Christopher Columbus

Where would he have landed if he had sailed north, not west?

What would he have found there?

The Native Americans

What would have happened to them if Columbus hadn't landed in America?

The first men on the moon

What would they have done if they had discovered aliens there?

How would they have come back if their rocket had broken down?

Cavepeople

What would cavepeople have done if they had had computers?

Can you write some questions like these for your class to answer?

4.2 Wishes

4.2.1 I wish ...

Do you remember what Dr Reinmaris said in Exercise 3?

I wish I had an interesting book.

I wish we knew more about the effects of genetic engineering.

How do you say those sentences in Korean?

What do you notice about the form of the verb after 'wish'?

Here are some more examples.

I wish I had a dictionary.

I wish I could speak German.

Note: We often say 'I wish I were' instead of 'I wish I was'.

I wish I were on holiday.

4.2.2 Practice

Put the verb into the correct form.

1. I'm fed up with this rain. I wish it would stop. (it / stop)
2. It's a difficult question. I wish ____________ the answer. (I / know)
3. I should have listened to you. I wish _________ your advice. (I / take)
4. You're lucky to be going away. I wish _____ with you. (I / can / come)
5. I have no energy at the moment. I wish _______ so tired. (I / not / be)
6. Aren't they ready yet? I wish ______ up. (they / hurry)
7. It would be nice to stay here longer. I wish _______ to leave now. (we / not / have)
8. It's freezing today. I wish ________ so cold. (it / not / be)
9. Joe still doesn't know what he wants to do. I wish _____. (he / decide)
10. I really didn't enjoy the party. I wish ____________. (we / not / go)

5 Map drawing and writing A circle map

5.1 Preparation: What's in your town?

What different kinds of buildings and places are there in and around Pyongyang? With your class, make a list.

In a small group, choose part of the list. Find out about the different buildings and places. How old are they? What are they used for? What did they use to be used for? What was there before? Bring your information to class.

5.2 In class: A circle map

You can see how Pyongyang has changed and what the different activities are in each part if you make a circle map. Sit in your group and follow these steps.

a. Share your information: Tell each other what you have found out.

b. A circle map: In the centre of a large piece of paper, draw a dot. This is the town centre. Mark north, south, east and west and show rivers, lakes, forests and so on in your area.

c. The town centre: What buildings and places are there in the centre? Write their names. What is the main activity there? Write a label and then draw a circle around the town centre.

d. Around the town centre: What buildings and places are there outside the town centre? Show where they are. What are the main activities there? Write some labels and draw another circle around them.

e. On the outskirts: What buildings and places are there on the outskirts? What are the main activities? Write some labels and draw another circle. Show where the countryside begins.

f. Extra information: What other information can you add about some of the places?

g. Compare: Compare your circle map of Pyongyang with the maps other students have made.

What does your map tell you about your town? How has the town changed? How are the parts different?

1. Kim Il Sung Square	10. Parking lot
2. The Tower of the Juche Idea	11. Kaeson Youth Park
3. Kim Il Sung University	12. Hospital
4. Korean Revolution Museum	13. Taedong River
5. Grand People's Study House	14. Pothong River
6. Mangyongdae Fun Fair	15. Blocks of Flats
7. Pyongyang Railway Station	16. School
8. Pyongyang Grand Theatre	17. Blocks of Flats
9. Pyongyang Koryo Hotel	18. Thongil Metro Station

5.3 Write about your city or town

What can you say about your city or town? In your group, make a circle map about your city or town and write a description.

For example:

Around the outskirts of the town …

In the north …

In the last 20 years, …

Revision: Second conditional

You can use the second conditional to talk about something which is not real now.

It may be very improbable:

If we had wings, we would fly.

or a little bit improbable:

If I knew it, I would tell you.

or possible:

If Chol Nam tried hard, he would win the game.

You can also use the second conditional to give advice and make suggestions:

If I were you, I would go to the dentist.

Complete these sentences with your own ideas.

1. If everyone spoke the same language, ...
2. I would travel round the world if ...
3. If the world didn't have any oil left, ...
4. You would be very ill if ...
5. If I had a lot of time, I would ...

Supplementary Exercises

1 Vocabulary What's the word?

1.1 What's the noun?

Find the nouns from these verbs in the word square.

1.2 Noun or verb?

Now read about the world's population.

Are the missing words nouns or verbs?

Write 'N' or 'V' in each box and then complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in the puzzle. Listen and check your answers.

(1) .... □

(2) .... □

Are there too many people on our planet?

It is true that there are more people on our planet today than there were in, for example, 1750. At that time, life expectancy in many parts of the world was only 25 years. Today, most people (1) .... □ to live much longer, and to enjoy their (2) .... □ after work. Many more children also (3) .... □ and grow up to become adults. The result is that there has been a dramatic (4) .... □ in the world's population. The (5) .... □ of food, water, houses and jobs for everybody is one of our biggest problems. In capitalist countries many people can not find work in rural areas so they move to the cities, and this causes a lot of (6) .... □. As a result, many other countries are trying to (7) .... □ people to stay in rural areas. We know that the world's population will continue to grow and we must (8) .... □ for the future. Are there too many people in the world? Probably not. There is enough food and other resources for everybody. The problem is not the number of people, but the (9) .... □ of our resources.

2 Third conditional What wouldn't have happened?

2.1 Disaster in London

In 1665, disease spread by rats killed over 100 000 people in London. The next year, in 1666, a disastrous fire destroyed over 13 000 houses and killed another 75 000 people. But the fire also brought good — it killed the rats and the disease, and after 1666 the population of London rose dramatically. So what would have happened if there hadn't been a fire? Match the sentence halves to find out!

1. If there hadn't been a fire, ... 2. If the wooden houses hadn't burned down, ... 3. If the rats hadn't disappeared, ... 4. If the disease had continued, ... 5. If many more people had died, ...	a. .... many more people would have died. b. .... the disease would have continued. c. ... the population of London would have fallen further. d. .... the rats wouldn't have disappeared. e. ... the wooden houses wouldn't have burned down.

2.2 A growing population

Later, the population also grew because improved agriculture meant that people had more to eat. Can you complete these sentences with your own ideas?

1. If they hadn't used new farm machines, ...
2. If they hadn't produced so many crops, ...
3. If the price of bread hadn't fallen in London, ...
4. If people hadn't had more to eat, ...
5. If people had become ill, ...
6. If more people had died of hunger in Britain, ...

3 Third conditional If I hadn't ...

Write down six things which you did in the last month or year. Like this:

I went to the dentist on Tuesday.

I stayed late at my friend's on Saturday.

Then write what would or would not have happened if you hadn't done those things. Like this:

If I hadn't gone to the dentist, I would have had terrible toothache.

If I had gone home earlier from his house, I wouldn't have met Ri Chol.

Don't forget to change the tense of the verb in your first sentence.

4 Writing and speaking Talk to Marit

Write your answers to Marit's questions. Then talk to her on the cassette.

MARIT : Hi! How are you today?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Oh, I'm fine. I have some questions here for you to answer. Do you have a lot of imagination?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Well, let's see. Here's the first question. What do you think would have happened if the dinosaurs hadn't disappeared?

YOU : ....

MARIT : It's difficult to imagine, isn't it? But I think they would have eaten us! Here's another question. What would have happened if the continents hadn't separated?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Well, you could be right. Can you ask me a question now?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Hmm. I'll have to think about that. One last question. What would have happened if cavepeople hadn't discovered fire?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Well, I know what will happen if I don't go now! I'll never finish this homework for tomorrow. I'll talk to you again later. Bye.

Unit 2

Topic and Language

The World's Water

SPLENDID CREATION OF THE SONGUN ERA
The Paengma-Cholsan Waterway

1 Discussion Water and you

Is there sometimes a shortage of water in the world?
How much water do you think you use every day?
Where does the water for your house and town come from?
Do you think everyone should pay for the water they use? Should it be free?
What do you use water for in agriculture and industry?

Fact box: WATER

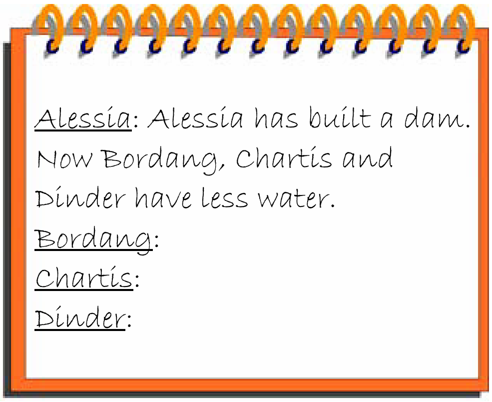

- 97% of the world's water is salt water, in the sea.
- Only 3% of the world's water is fresh water.
- 70% of the world's fresh water is ice and 25% is underground. Only 5% of fresh water is available in lakes and rivers.
- In our country, people use many litres of water a day. In desert areas, people use only 5 litres a day.

2 Reading and simulation One river, four countries

2.1 Along the River Quangga

Imagine. There are four countries that share a river called the Quangga. All of the countries need and use the river in different ways. Look at the map and read the text.

What are the problems of each country? Make some notes.

2.2 A meeting

The four countries need to meet and agree what they will do about the problems. Work in a group of four. Decide who will represent each country and then follow these steps.

a. Read and think: Read the text again. How do you think the four countries can solve their problems? Make some notes.

b. Prepare for the meeting: Read the messages from three countries and prepare what you will say at the meeting.

c. The meeting: Choose a chairperson and start the meeting. Try to find solutions that everyone agrees with.

d. When you have finished: Share your solutions with the rest of the class.

Simulation

Problems Along the River Quangga

The River Quangga flows through four countries: Alessia, Bordang, Chartis and Dinder. For thousands of years the economy of each country has been based on agriculture and the water from the river has been used to irrigate the crops. Now, however, some of the countries are starting to change their economies.

Alessia

The first problem is that Alessia has very little wood or coal to make electricity. So in Alessia, a dam has been built to generate hydroelectricity for the growing population. As a result, the other countries now have much less water to irrigate their crops. However, Alessia has offered to build a new water pipeline to the other countries.

Bordang

The second problem is that farmers in Bordang have been persuaded to grow sugar cane and other cash crops. Bordang can export the crops (and so earn a lot of income) but they need much more water than traditional crops. In many places the route of the river has been changed to irrigate the new crops. This means that the level of the river in Chartis and Dinder is often much lower than it used to be.

Chartis

Another problem is that Chartis has built many new chemical and paint factories along the river. Dinder thinks that the factories in Chartis have put a lot of chemicals into the river. A lot of fish have died and it is dangerous to swim or wash in the river in Dinder.

Dinder

Dinder will also contribute to the problems. Their capital city used to be in the south-east of the country, but now gold has been discovered near the River Quangga. The government has decided to move the capital to the north-west and wants to build three big reservoirs for the eight million people who will live in the new city. However, there is not enough water to fill the reservoirs. The four countries will soon meet to discuss their problems and try to find solutions.

THE MESSAGES FROM FOUR COUNTRIES

The Message from Alessia

At the meeting, you will need to argue that the dam will provide a lot of electricity. This will be more than Alessia needs so we will be happy to supply other countries with cheap electricity if they agree to the dam. You can also say that if all the countries worked together you could build new water pipelines from the dam to the other countries.

The Message from Bordang

Bordang is very poor and we urgently need to grow crops which we can sell. We need the money so that we can build factories, roads and an airport. At the meeting, you can say that Bordang would like to have cheap electricity to help us build these new places and we like the idea of the water pipeline from Alessia. However, we will not have any money until we begin to sell the crops.

The Message from Chartis

A large company has helped us to build the chemical and paint factories and if there is not enough water they will move out of our country. Many people will then not have any work. It is not our factories which are causing the pollution in the river. Our scientists say that Bordang is using new chemical fertilizers for their crops, and this is polluting the river. We like the idea of the cheap electricity and the water pipes from Alessia, and it is possible that the multinational company will give some money for the project.

The Message from Dinder

Dinder already has enough electricity because we have a lot of coal. We also have a network of water pipes so we are not interested in a new pipeline. Dinder is very angry that the water is so polluted and that our people cannot eat the fish from the river. We planned to start a tourist industry and build hotels but if there are no reservoirs we cannot do this. We can, instead, sell some of our coal to the other countries so that they can make electricity.

3 Listening The world's water

3.1 Water facts—true or false?

Do you think these statements are true (T) or false (F)? Compare your ideas with your partner and the rest of the class.

1. □ We have less water today than 1 000 years ago.
2. □ The world does not get enough rain for its needs.
3. □ Some large cities are sinking because there is too much water.
4. □ It is very expensive to take salt out of sea water.
5. □ Dams can cause many health problems.

3.2 Check your answers

Gordon Rona is talking about the 'Water World campaign'. Listen and check your answers to Exercise 3.1.

3.3 Problems with water supplies

What does Gordon Rona say about the problems with each type of water supply? Make some notes about each problem.

- Underground water supplies
- Desalination plants
- Dams

Listen again and check your answers.

4 Grammar Present perfect passive

4.1 The passive

In Unit 1, 5th year you saw passive sentences, like these:

Football was first played in the early 1800s.

At first, the rules were changed many times.

Can you remember why we use the passive, and how it is formed? Check in Unit 1, 5th year.

4.2 Present perfect passive

In Unit 2, 5th year, you saw examples of the Present perfect, like these:

Television has changed our lives in many ways.

It has made us aware of the world.

Can you remember when you use the Present perfect?

Now look at these sentences from the text in Exercise 2.

A dam has been built to generate hydroelectricity.

Farmers in Bordang have been persuaded to grow sugar cane.

Gold has been discovered near the River Quangga.

Can you see how we form the Present perfect passive?

Subject + ______________ + been + ________.

4.3 Practice

Write the correct form of the verb in the gaps.

1. Tom : This river looks less polluted.
   Anna : It .... (clean).

2. Clare : Why isn't there any water?
   Jorge : It ...... (turn) off until tomorrow.

3. Bella : Oh no! Some one's broken into our flat!
   Ricardo: .... anything .... (take)?

4. Diana : This room is a terrible mess!
   Lea : I know. Do you think it .... ever ... (clean)?

5. Samia : This looks terrible! What's happening?
   Victor : They're building a road here so all the trees .... (cut down).

4.4 The new dam

Look at the picture at the beginning of the unit. What can you say about the things that have been done? Write some sentences. These verbs may help you.

build	knock down	put down	close cut down	move	dig

4.5 Where you live

What things have recently happened in our country? Tell the class your ideas, for example, recently completed projects in your province.

Kaechon-Thaesong waterway project has been recently completed in our country.

Supplementary Exercises

1 Vocabulary What's the word?

1.1 Nouns and verbs

Which noun is most likely to be used with the verb? Circle a, b, c or d.

1. supply	a. water	b. the level	c. the sea	d. a pipeline
2. earn	a. a reservoir	b. a dam	c. a solution	d. money
3. irrigate	a. a dam	b. the level	c. crops	d. an income

7. persuade	a. the level	b. a supply	c. crops	d. people
8. pump	a. an amount	b. a shortage	c. water	d. an income

1.2 Where do they fit?

Read about the demand for water and electricity. Can you complete the text with verbs and nouns from Exercise 1.1?

Listen and check your answers.

The Demand for Water and Electricity

Every day the demand for water and electricity grows. Under the wise leadership of the great leader Marshal Kim Jong Il, a lot of big projects are completed to meet the demand for water and electricity in our country.

The West Sea Barrage

Farmers need water to irrigate crops and this uses an enormous quantity of water. In many parts of the world, farmers (1) .... by growing 'cash crops' which they sell to other countries. These crops use more water than traditional crops, and so governments have to look for other ways to

(2) .... to the people. In some countries, it is possible to (3) .... from underground. In other places, they have to (4) .... from the sea. Usually the builders have to (7) .... and destroy the natural habitat.

2 Reading and writing Where does all the water go?

2.1 'Water wizards' or 'water wasters'?

How does your family use water? Are you 'water wizards' or 'water wasters'? Read the questionnaire and fill in each box with √ ('yes') or × ('no').

In the bathroom In our family…

1. We take 5-minute shower. □
2. We like to have very deep baths or 10-minute showers. □
3. We use a glass of water to rinse our mouths when we clean our teeth. □
4. We leave the tap running when we clean our teeth. □
5. We put the plug in the wash-basin when we wash our hands. □
6. We leave the tap running when we wash our hands. □

In the kitchen

7. We peel vegetables under a running tap. □
8. We peel vegetables in a bowl of water. □
9. We wash dishes in a bowl of water. □
10. We wash dishes under a running tap. □
11. We water the plants with dirty kitchen water. □
12. We throw dirty kitchen water away. □

2.2 How much water?

Read the text and fill in the chart.

Family water use	Average litres per use	Times used per day	Daily total Bath: Shower:
Toilet -normal: -with a plastic bottle:
Teeth cleaning -normal: -using a glass:
Dishwasher -normal cycle: -economy cycle:	 35 20
Washing dishes -in a bowl: -under running tap:	 6 10
General cleaning and cooking:	10
Washing machine -normal: -economy:	 80 60
Total family water consumption per day:

How many litres of water does your family use every day?

Everyone needs to wash regularly. But how much water do you need every day to keep clean and healthy? The average person uses 130L of water per day. Do you and other people in your family use more or less than this? Every time we have a bath, we use 80L of water, but if we have a shower this uses less than half—only 35L. Flushing a normal toilet takes 10L of water, but if a large plastic bottle filled with water is placed in the cistern, then we save 2L very time we flush.

If we clean our teeth under a running tap, we use 6L each time, but we can save 4L if we use a glass of water to rinse our mouth.

General cooking and cleaning use up another ...

2.3 Complete the text

Look at the information that was already given in the chart and continue the text.

2.4 Your family

Complete the chart in Exercise 2.2 to show how many times your family uses water for each activity. What is the total for your family?

3 Present perfect passive The dams

Jerry, an architect is talking to Angelika about new dams in an interview. Put the sentences (a—f) in the right places in the dialogue.

a. Have they been given jobs to go to?

b. Have any parts of the project been finished already?

c. It has been estimated that it will be nearly 600 kilometres long!

d. What progress has been made on this dam?

e. How many people have been moved?

f. How many people have been employed to work on this site?

JERRY: What do you think of the view, Angelika?

ANGELIKA: I can't believe how many people are working here! (1) ....

JERRY: Thousands of different people work here every day.

ANGELIKA: So they've been working for three years now. (2) ....

JERRY: Oh yes, some parts were finished first. For example, many new towns have been built already for the people who have to move from their villages.

ANGELIKA: So some people have left their villages. (3) ....

JERRY: A few thousand so far, but about two million will move in the next five years.

ANGELIKA: What will they do? (4) ....

JERRY: Yes, some of them will work in factories and offices in one of the 13 new cities.

ANGELIKA: The government is going to build dams along the river. (5) ....

JERRY: They started last year on this dam here, which will be about 200m high and 2km wide. That's a lot of concrete .

ANGELIKA: So there will be a reservoir here?

JERRY: Yes. (6) ....

Listen and check your answers.

4 Writing and speaking Talk to Bob

Write your answers to Bob's questions. Then talk to him on the cassette.

BOB: Hi! How are you doing?

YOU: ....

BOB: I'm OK. I've just had a great activity weekend. What did you do at the weekend?

YOU: ....

BOB: Oh! That sounds good! I like sports a lot. What sports do you like?

YOU: ....

BOB: I like water sports. There's a big lake near here with a camp site. Do you ever go camping?

YOU: ....

BOB: Hmmm. Anyway, on the first day we went in canoes on a river. It was great! Do you like being in canoes and boats?

YOU: ....

BOB: We also went swimming. I saw some fantastic fish. Where do you go swimming?

YOU: ....

BOB: Oh, would you like to come with me next time? Would that be possible?

YOU: ....

BOB: Right. I've got to go now. We can talk about it later, then. Bye!

Unit 3

Culture Matters

Discover Ireland

1 Discussion Ireland—the 'Emerald Isle'

Make two lists. What do you know about the Republic of Ireland? What don't you know? Tell the class your ideas.

Things I don't know	Things I know
Capital?	They speak English there.

2 Reading People and places

2.1 The people and their lives

Skim the text quickly and write down what you can remember. Compare your notes with your partner.

2.2 Read carefully

Copy this chart and then read the text again slowly. Can you put each of the ideas in the correct column?

stated clearly	suggested	not mentioned
1. Ireland is very green.	2. The English were very aggressive.	3. Ireland makes high quality glass.

4. Religion is important to Irish people.

5. The English government doesn't like Catholics.

6. It rains a lot in Ireland.

7. Most Irish people were very poor.

8. Irish people like music.

9. Many people in other English-speaking countries have Irish ancestors.

3 Listening The Aran Islands

3.1 Inishmore

Away from the problems, life is very different in other parts of Ireland.

Colman O'Flaherty is talking to Sue Kendal about life on the Aran Islands.

Listen to Part l.

1. What was life like 50 years ago?
2. Why did Colman leave his island?
3. Where did he and his family go?

3.2 The changes

Listen to Part 2. Colman is talking about the changes on Inishmore. Tick (√) the changes he mentions.

1. □ water system
2. □ trains
3. □ electricity
4. □ coal mining
5. □ shopping
6. □ phones
7. □ tourists
8. □ the language

What other changes does he mention? What problems do you think the tourists bring to the islands?

4 Research Investigate Ireland

These people, places and dates are important to Ireland. Find out why!

Saint Patrick	King James	the potato famine
1921	'Eire'	Ulster

Fact box: Ireland

Status: an independent country (Northern Ireland is a part of the United Kingdom)

Capital: Dublin

Population: 3 470 000

Area: 70 284 sq km

Languages: English and Irish

Religion: 95% Catholic

① One island, two countries

Ireland has had a very difficult history. The problems started in the 16th century when English rulers tried to conquer Ireland. The majority of Irish people were (and are) Catholics but the English rulers were Protestant. The English took away the Catholics' land and gave it to Protestant Scottish and English farmers. For hundreds of years, Irish Catholics fought against the English. Eventually, in 1921, the British government was forced to give independence to the south of Ireland. The result is that today there are two 'Irelands'. Northern Ireland, in the north, is part of the United Kingdom. The Republic of Ireland, in the south, is an independent country.

② Landscape and climate

Ireland is sometimes called 'the Emerald Isle' because it is a very green island with a wet but warm climate.

③ The people and their lives

In the 1840s the main crop, potatoes, was affected by disease and about 750 000 people died of hunger. This, and a shortage of work, forced many people to leave Ireland and live in North America, the UK, Australia. As a result of these problems, the population fell from 8.2 million in 1841 to 6.6 million in 1851.

For many years, the majority of Irish people earned their living as farmers. Today, many people still work on the land but more and more people are moving to the cities to work in factories and offices. Life in the cities is very different from life in the countryside, where things move at a quieter and slower pace.

④ Irish culture

The Irish are famous for being warm-hearted and friendly. Oscar Wilde, a famous Irish playwright, once said that the Irish were 'the greatest talkers since the Greeks'.

Since independence, Ireland has revived its own culture of music, language (Irish, a form of Gaelic), literature and singing. Different areas have different styles of old Irish songs which are sung without instruments. Other kinds of Irish music use many different instruments such as the harp, the 'fiddle' (violin), whistles and Irish ('uileann') bagpipes.

Supplementary Exercises

What do you like to read? What is it that attracts your attention — content, style or both? In this Unit, you can find out.

1 Reading for pleasure What do you enjoy reading?

1.1 Topics and types of texts

What do you enjoy reading about — what topics or subjects interest you most?
What type of texts do you like reading?
Look at the two bubbles for ideas and then write down what you think.

Topics: I enjoy reading about …

Types of text: I enjoy reading …

What topics?

Types of text?

1.2 Some examples

Read the four texts A—D. Where do you think each text comes from (for example, a newspaper or a magazine)? What is each one about? Complete the table.

	The text probably comes from a ...	It is about ...	How interesting is it to you?
Text A Text B
Text C
Text D

2 Characteristics of texts What makes a text interesting?

Look at the texts again. Which one did you enjoy most? Which one did you enjoy least? Why was that? Think for a few moments and write down your answers.

I enjoyed text ...... most because ....

I enjoyed text ...... least because ....

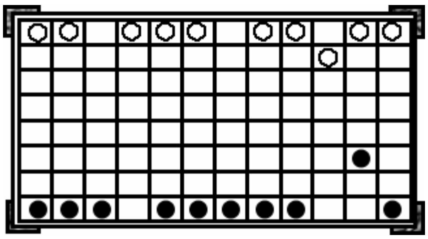

Some ideas

topic	type of text	style	context	length

Next lesson, compare your reactions with other students in your class.
Can you think of other examples of each kind of text?

A THE GAMES PEOPLE PLAYED

Many of our 'modern' board and computer games are, in fact, thousands of years old. Snakes and Ladders, for example, was an old Hindu game and was used to show children the difference between good and bad. Many of our computer games come from old Arab, Greek, Roman and other civilizations. Archaeologists often find pieces, like dice and counters, which our ancestors used to play different games.

Archaeologists recently discovered another Roman boardgame. It had been buried in a grave with an important Roman doctor. They found the board and 21 counters. The game had already been started and 10 counters were in position on the two sides of the board. The other counter was near the board in the ground. Chris Johnson, one of the archaeologists on the site, said, 'We wanted to play the game but the problem is that no one knows the rules!'

B

Manchester United 3 Liverpool 1

This was Cole's game. The crowd had a lot to watch and admire. He waltzed and hip-hopped, tangoed and salsaed through the two halves to a music that the crowd could not hear but could clap their hands to. The other 21 players danced around him, some keeping time with his impressive footwork, others out of step with his movements. In the first half there were no more than six chances to score but Cole twisted his way through to two of them and, with his partners, Giggs and then Scholes, slid his way towards the goal and, both times, slipped the ball smoothly into the net. The rhythm changed in the second half and Liverpool moved Manchester back and back until, in the 62nd minute, Fowler scored a goal from a penalty. But Cole wasn't finished yet. He rocked and rolled his way through to the other end of the pitch and, from 20 metres, hit the ball over the head of the goalkeeper to end the game.

Chapter 1

The long weekend

'So, are you coming?' Zoe's voice was almost shouting down the phone.
'The others are here already and you said you'd come with Poppy, but she says when she knocked on your door there was no answer.' Zoe hardly stopped for breath.
'Everyone's brought some music. Come on Annabelle, you're missing the fun — hurry up! See you soon.' She put the telephone down.

There was a background noise of laughing and talking and music. Zoe's parties were always good fun and Annabelle knew she was missing a good evening ... but she couldn't tell anyone what had happened, could she? She looked down in the darkness at her legs and feet — they were still there though she couldn't feel them any more and they didn't move when she sent a message from her brain to her legs. Usually she would sing that song out loud but she couldn't do that tonight, not now, not after this.

Unit 4 Revision and Test

Revision

1 Vocabulary The words you met

1.1 A word puzzle

Find the words in the word puzzle for these definitions. Most words go diagonally (↘), but one goes upwards and another goes from left to right.

2 Present perfect passive Active or passive?

In many parts of the world, it has become difficult for small fishermen to survive. Alberto is explaining to Rachel, a newspaper reporter, why this has happened. Choose the correct form of the Present perfect in each space.

RACHEL: Can you tell me what has happened here, Alberto?

ALBERTO: Well, more fish (1) have been caught / have caught by the big, commercial ships in the last five years ...

RACHEL: Why?

ALBERTO: Well, the fish (2) have been pushed / have pushed further out to sea ...

RACHEL: And it's too far for the small boats to go?

ALBERTO: Yes, that's right. They (3) have built / have been built very large ships recently. They have nets 100 metres wide, and they can stay at sea for a long time.

RACHEL: How does the fish stay fresh?
ALBERTO: Well, when the fish (4) have been trapped / have trapped, machines lift the nets on to the ship.
RACHEL: I see.
ALBERTO: Then when the fish (5) have been separated / have separated they are cleaned.
RACHEL: So when they get back to land they (6) have already prepared / have already been prepared the fish for market?
ALBERTO: Oh yes, and probably the fish (7) have been frozen l have frozen for more than a week on the ship before they reach the shops.
RACHEL: Can't you do that?
ALBERTO: No! Our boats aren't big enough for that.

3 Third conditional If I had known ...

Match the first half of the sentence in Part 1 with an ending in Part 2. There are two halves missing. Write your own ideas.

Part 1

1. If I had known you were coming, ...
2. If she had told me she was a vegetarian, ...
3. If you hadn't dropped your cup of coffee on your computer, …
4. If we had caught the earlier bus, ...

Theme B The World We Make

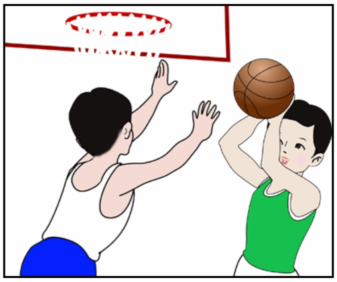

Unit 5

Topic and Language

Daily Life

1 Discussion How do you relax?

Discuss these questions with the class.

What do you do to relax?
How many hours a day do you spend relaxing?
When and how do you relax?
Why do we need to relax?
What happens if you don' t relax or rest?

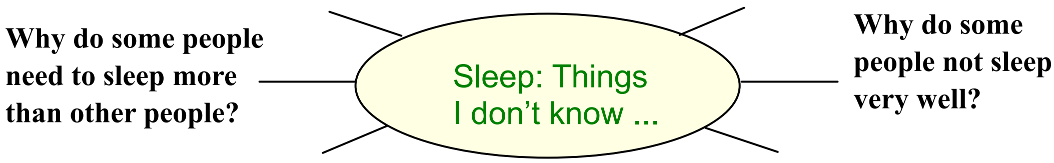

Compare your ideas with your partner and the rest of the class.

2 Reading Sleep

2.1 What don't you know?

One of the ways to relax is sleeping! We spend about 33% of our lives asleep but scientists are still trying to find out what happens when we sleep. Is there anything you would like to know about sleep? Work along and write some questions on an ideas map.

2.2 What do you know?

Read these statements. How sure are you that they are true? Write 'VS' (very sure), 'S' (sure) or 'NS' (not sure) next to each one.

1. ☐ We sleep most deeply in the middle of the night.
2. ☐ We breathe more slowly when we are asleep.
3. ☐ There are different kinds of sleep.
4. ☐ We die if we go without sleep for a long period.
5. ☐ Sleeping will help cure a minor illness.

2.3 Right or wrong?

Read and listen to check your answers.

What happens when we sleep?

A reporter Rita Slavin went to a Sleep Laboratory and spent the weekend fast asleep. What did she find out?

"Approximately one third of our life is spent asleep but when I started to think about sleep, I realised that my mind was completely blank. All I knew was that all creatures go to sleep at some point in 24 hours. To find out more, I went to spend a weekend with Dr Hernandez, director of the local Sleep Laboratory. I took a long list of questions to ask her."

First of all, I wanted to know why we sleep. Dr Hernandez said:

"Well, years ago we didn't really know, but recent science has shown that people who don't sleep enough soon get ill and often die." So it seems that when we sleep our bodies are being "repaired". She went on to say that a lot of natural chemicals come into our blood while we sleep and these can help cure minor illnesses such as colds.

I wondered if our bodies experience any other changes while we sleep. Dr Hernandez replied:

"In some stages of sleep the heart rate and our breathing slow down but in other stages the opposite happens — the heart rate increases and our breathing becomes quite rapid. During the night our body temperature drops by one or two degrees too."

In the laboratory there were six volunteers fast asleep with wires attached to their heads. The wires were connected to a monitor. The monitor was measuring the brain's electrical activity and showed which of the four stages of sleep the volunteers were in.

I wanted to know what happened in the different stages. Dr Hernandez explained:

"After we have slept through the four stages — which takes about 40 minutes — we then go backwards through the stages again, four, three, two, one. Stage four is the deepest sleep. Each stage is deeper than the one before. Look now at the volunteers' eyes. Those rapid eye movements (REM) are telling us that they are dreaming. If we wake them up now they'll remember their dreams quite clearly."

Then it was my turn to be a volunteer. I started to listen to some instructions and ... yawn ... yawn ...

Inside the Text

A Check your understanding

What do these numbers in the text refer to?

one third 24 one or two six 40

For example:

one third — the part of our life that we spend asleep

B Synonyms

Match the following words with their synonyms.

a. creatures	1. blank
b. roughly	2. mended
c. empty	3. connected
d. repaired	4. quickly
e. drops	5. approximately
f. attached	6. animals
g. rapidly	7. falls

Write some sentences using words 1—7 but leave a gap for the word. Give your sentences to another student to complete.

C Say it clearly!

Dr Hernandez is very enthusiastic about her experiments. In each reply her voice goes down from high to low.

We do so many different experiments.

➡ Be enthusiastic!

When we are enthusiastic about something our voice goes down from high to low at the end. Listen and repeat.

1. I had fantastic holiday job in a sleep laboratory!
2. We spent three days in bed playing on the computer!
3. The food was really good!
4. And we could watch videos in bed!

➡ Enthusiastic or not?

Listen. In some replies the speakers are enthusiastic and in others they are not. Write 'E' next to the enthusiastic replies.

1. A: So, was it a good holiday job?
   B: Well, it was very interesting.
2. A: What was the food like?
   B: Oh, I hadn't had that kind of food before.
3. A: So what did you have to do in the sleep lab?
   B: Well, we had to try and do different kinds of puzzles.
4. A: You did puzzles all the time?
   B: Yes, and sometimes we had discussions.
5. A: Didn't you get tired?
   B: It was incredible after 48 hours without sleep.
6. A: Did you have to do anything else?
   B: Oh yes, lots of things.

3 Listening Sleep experiments

3.1 What can you find out?

What would you like to know about your own sleep? Write down some sentences which you think are true of you.

For example:

I need eight hours' sleep a night.

I feel the same if I go to bed at 10 pm or 2 pm.

What experiments could you do to find out? Discuss your ideas with the class.

3.2 In a sleep laboratory

Sleep researchers are people who do experiments to find out how sleep affects our lives. What kinds of things do you think they want to find out? Listen to the interview with Dr Stephanie Hernandez from the Sleep Research Centre. It is divided into three parts. Copy the chart and write down two key facts for each part.

	Part1	Part 2	Part 3
Key fact 1
Key fact 2

3.3 Experiments in the laboratory

Now listen again. Are these statements true (T) or false (F)?

Dr Hernandez has done experiments to find out:

1. □ ... what happens when people don't sleep enough.
2. □ ... what happens when people lose their appetite.
3. □ ... if people could go to sleep more quickly.
4. □ ... if people are sleeping too much.
5. □ ... how to stop feeling sleepy in the afternoon.
6. □ ... how much sleep children need.

4 Grammar Questions

4.1 Short and long questions

4.1.1 Different kinds of questions

When you ask people for information you can often use a direct or short question, like this:

Who are the volunteers? What do they have to do?

Do they get paid? When will they wake up?

Write down some questions you would like to ask Dr Hernandez. You will need them later.

4.1.2 More polite questions

Sometimes you need to be more polite, for example, if you don't know the person very well or they are much older than you. You can make questions more polite by making them longer, like this:

Do you know who the volunteers are?

Can you tell us if they get paid?

We would like to know what they have to do.

Have you any idea when they will wake up?

How do you make questions more polite in Korean?

4.1.3 Differences

You can make a long question by adding a phrase at the beginning and also changing the word order. What is the difference in word order between short questions and long questions? Share your ideas with your neighbour.

4.1.4 Are you right?

Test your ideas. Make these questions more polite.

What time do you go to bed?

How long will that experiment take?

Is this true?

What happens if people don't sleep enough?

Now add some more questions to the ones you wrote in Exercise 4.1.1.
Give them to your partner to change into polite questions.

4.2 Reported questions

4.2.1 Two changes

To make long questions, you have to change the word order. In reported questions we do the same thing. Remember, we change the tense too! Look at these pairs of sentences:

'What do the volunteers do?' Rita asked Dr Hernandez.

→ Rita asked Dr Hernandez what the volunteers did.

'How did you become interested in sleep?' Rita asked Dr Hernandez.

→ Rita wanted to know how Dr Hernandez had become interested in sleep.

'Do you know what your next experiment will be?' Rita asked Dr Hernandez.

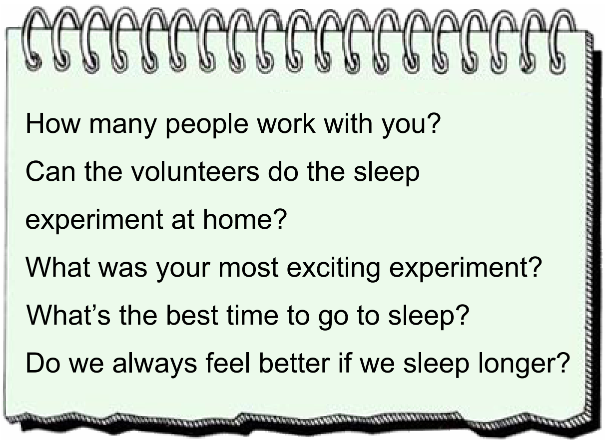

→ Rita wondered if Dr Hernandez knew what her next experiment would be.

4.2.2 Practice

Rita asked Dr Hernandez the questions on the notepad. What did she write in her report? For example:

'Do males sleep more than females?'

→ I wanted to know if males slept more than females.

5 Writing—Thinking and doing An experiment and a survey

5.1 Daily living

What do you know about your daily life? How much sleep do you get each week? What do you eat? How much water do you drink each week?

In your class, brainstorm questions you would like to find out the answers to.

5.2 Your experiment

Work in a small group. Follow these steps. At each stage write down your reasons or your ideas.

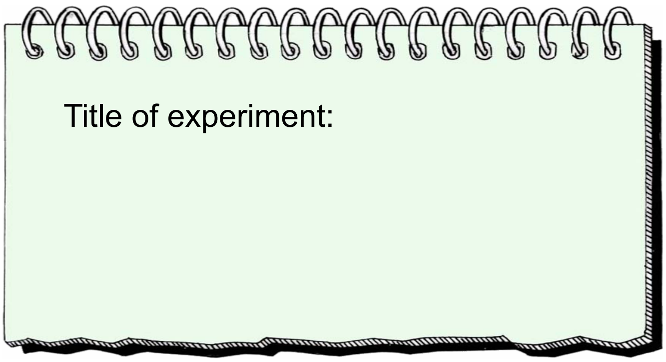

Preparation

a Choose one question for your experiment. Write down why you chose this question.

We decided to find out ... because we think ...

b Choose your volunteers. What do you think you will find out?

We think we will find out that ...

c Decide how you can organise the experiment. How long will it take? One week? Ten days? What do the volunteers have to do? How will they record their information? Write down your ideas.

The experiment will take ... days. The volunteers have to ...
They will write their information every day ...

d Write down your instructions for the volunteers. Check your grammar, vocabulary and spelling.

After the experiment

e Talk to the volunteers and read their information. Make some notes.

f Look back at the notes you made and write about your experiment.
Your report can have three parts:

Part 1: Which experiment you chose and why

Title: Do you get enough sleep?

Part 2: What your volunteers did

The volunteers had to write down what time they went to bed every night for 10 days. They also had to write down what time they got up.

we asked them to write down if they felt tired in the morning ...

Part 3: Conclusions

We discovered that...

g Check spelling, grammar and vocabulary.

h Exchange reports with other students.

Revision: Reported Speech

You saw sentences like these:

She told me she was a student.

They said they were going to the cinema.

He said he hadn't seen that film before.

Can you remember how to make reported speech sentences? Practise again with these sentences. Remember to change the tense!

1. 'I always sleep nine hours a night,' Lea said.
2. 'We did about six different experiments last year,'said Dr Hernandez.
3. 'I'm going to be a volunteer,' said Sally.
4. 'I'm exhausted! I'm going to bed early tonight!' said Sun Chol.

5. ‘Sometimes I can' t get up in the mornings,’ said Jorge.
6. ‘I never remember any of my dreams,’ said Lianne.
7. ‘Robin always goes to bed at 10.00 pm,’ said his mother.

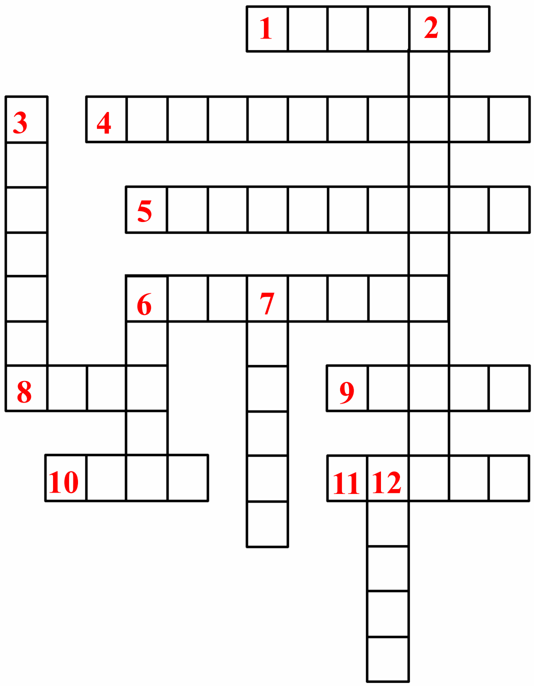

Supplementary Exercises

1 Vocabulary What’s the word?

Can you complete the crossword with the correct words?
They are all in your textbook.

Across

1. connect
4. Sleep researchers do many different e___________ to learn about our sleep patterns.
5. _______ get paid nothing or very little for the work they do.
6. REM means ‘rapid eye_____’.
8. When we are tired, we ________ because our bodies need oxygen.
9. Empty, with nothing on it.
10. Sleep can help us to________ some illnesses.
11. Some people say they never _________ when they are asleep, but this isn’t true.

Down

2. think deeply about something
3. very quickly
6. small, not very important
7. the skin over your eye
12. rest

2 Reported questions The man who doesn't sleep!

Lisa Huckle interviewed Ezzio Salome about his sleeping habits. Read their conversation. You can also hear it on the cassette.

LISA: We're writing a series of articles on sleep for our magazine.

EZZIO: Well, I'm a good person to talk to because I wake up every morning at 2 am.

LISA: Why do you think this happens?

EZZIO: I really don't know. I've tried everything ...

LISA: How long has this been happening?

EZZIO: It's been like this for about ten years now.

LISA: Ten years! And does this happen in the winter and the summer, or only in the summer?

EZZIO: No, all the year round.

LISA: And have you tried sleeping in different rooms in your flat?

EZZIO: Yes, I've put my bed in every room in the flat.

LISA: And have you tried different beds?

EZZIO: Yes, I've bought three new beds this year!

LISA: And what do you do when you wake up?

EZZIO: Well, I do all my work — I'm a teacher, so I correct all my students' work from 2 am until 4 am. And then I go back to bed.

LISA: That's one way of getting your work done!

Here is part of Lisa's report. Can you complete it by changing Lisa's questions into reported speech?

The person I interviewed was Ezzio. He wakes up every night at 2 am. (1) .... and he told me that he didn't know and that he had tried everything. (2) .... and he replied that it was ten years. (3) .... but he told me that this happened all the year round. (4) .... and he said that he had. (5) .... He told me that he had bought three new beds in the last year. (6) .... and he explained that he was a teacher and he corrected his students' work from 2 am until 4 am.

3 Long questions Polite questions

3.1 Informal to polite

Here are some questions that sleep researchers often ask their volunteers. Can you make them more polite? Use each of the different phrases.

Questions

1. What's your name?
2. How old are you?
3. What are your hobbies?
4. Why do you want to be a volunteer?
5. How many hours' sleep do you have every week?
6. How often can you remember your dreams?

Phrases

Do you know ...
Have you any idea ...
Can you tell us ...
Could you describe ...
Would you be able to ...
We would like to know ...

1. Can you tell us your name, please? ______
2. ______
3. ______
4. ______
5. ______
6. ______

3.2 Lisa's questions

Look back at the dialogue in Exercise 2 and make Lisa's questions more polite.

3.3 Your questions

Imagine you are going to interview one of your teachers in English for a wall newspaper. Write some polite questions.

4 Writing and speaking Talk to Marit

Write your answers to Marit's questions. Then talk to her on the cassette.

MARIT : Hi. How did you sleep last night?

YOU : ....

MARIT : We're doing some research in our class about how many hours people sleep every night. How long do you usually sleep?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Yeah? On school nights I usually try to get to bed before 10 pm. What time do you go to bed?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Really? What about weekends?

YOU : ....

MARIT : I like staying in bed at weekends. Sometimes I can sleep for over 12 hours! What about you?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Yes. I like going to sleep with my music on and I normally read for a while first. How do you go to sleep?

YOU : ....

MARIT : I hate getting up in the mornings. What do you think about mornings?

YOU : ....

MARIT : Uh-huh. Well, I have to go now. I need to go to sleep! Talk to you later.

YOU : ....

Unit 6

Topic and Language

The Creative Mind

1 Discussion Where do ideas come from?

1.1 Different kinds of creativity

People are creative in different ways.

In which ways are you creative?

What have you enjoyed creating recently at home and at school?

How often do you use your creativity?

Look at the picture. Can you think of any other examples of creativity?

1.2 What helps creativity?

What do you think? Read the statements and fill in the chart. Check your answers as you work through the Unit.

You can be more creative if you ...	don't agree	not sure	agree
1. try to solve problems in different ways 2. read a lot 3. work alone 4. work very hard 5. do a lot of preparation 6. ask a lot of questions 7. take risks 8. watch a lot of TV

What else can you do to help creativity? Write down some ideas.
For example:

You can be creative if you read a lot of books.

2 Reading Creative challenges

2.1 Which ones do you like?

Work alone. Choose one or more of the challenges and see which ones you like best. Compare your answers with your partner.

2.2 Find out about yourself

Read the information about the challenges and find out about yourself. Are you surprised? Why/why not?

Creative Challenges

What kind of a creative person are you?

Which creative tasks do you like best? Look at the four creative challenges and choose one. If you find it too difficult, choose one which is easier for you.

Find out about your strengths!

The tasks in Box A show how well you can get information out of your brain and then use it in a different way to solve problems and express ideas.

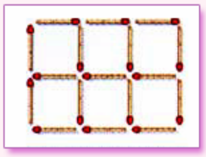

People working with words or students hoping for a career that uses language a lot (e.g. journalism) will find the tasks in Box A the easiest to do.

1 Make a list of the things you can think of which are: square pink fragile expensive
2 You have two minutes. Write down as many words as you can think of which start with the same letter.
Make a sentence with the words.

The tasks in Box B show you how well you can use a different technique to solve a problem. This kind of creativity is often useful in jobs in computers or engineering.

B

1 Take away 4 matches to make 3 squares.

2 Draw 4 straight lines to go through these 9 points.

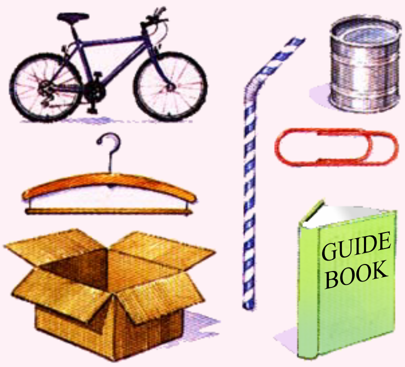

3 Move 1 coin so that there are 4 coins vertically and horizontally.

The tasks in Box C show how original your creativity is. When we see a different way of using something around us we are using creative originality. Artists, writers and composers are people whose creative ideas show originality.

Look at the pictures. How many different things could you use each one for?

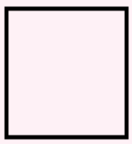

The tasks in Box D show how well you can improve something by adding something to it or changing it. People looking for work as architects and designers will find the creative challenges in Box D the easiest.

D

1 Look at these doodles.
Use them to make bigger pictures.

2 Design as many things as you can using this square.

REMEMBER! Everyone is creative! You don't have to be super-intelligent! You can help your creativity by asking lots of questions, preparing a piece of work carefully and taking some sensible risks. Work hard and change your way of working-sometimes alone, sometimes in a group. Have fun! Be creative!

3 Listening Some more ideas

3.1 How can we be more creative?

Alicia Harper has just given a talk about creativity and is now answering questions from the audience. Listen to the cassette. She describes six steps to help our creativity. Can you put them in the right order?

1. Get into the habit of thinking about ordinary things.
... Put different answers together.
... Think of a question about something.
... Decide which ideas you don't like or which don't work.
... Think of as many alternative answers as possible.
6. Test the ideas in practice.

3.2 Now you try!

Work alone or with a partner. Think of something ordinary, perhaps something that you see or use every day. First, ask a question about it and then follow your questions through the six steps in Exercise 3.1.

ideas:

How can you make a school bag more useful?

How can you redesign a bus for old people or disabled people?

How can you make the park in your town more interesting?

How can you redesign your school?

4 Grammar Suffixes and '-ing' clauses

4.1 Suffixes

4.1.1 Adjectives

You can often make an adjective from a noun or a verb by adding certain endings. Here are some examples.

-less : (=without) useless, helpless, hopeless

-ful : (=with) useful, helpful, hopeful, unsuccessful

-al : (=connected to) cultural, national

-ible : (=having that quality/characteristic) sensible, inflexible

-ive : (=showing this characteristic) creative, inventive, active

Use one of the words in each of these sentences.

1. This cassette is completely broken. It's ....
2. He plays sports every day. He's very ....
3. It's not very .... to go swimming after a big meal.
4. We wear our .... costume for special celebrations.
5. Picasso produced hundreds of sculptures, drawings, prints, and paintings. He was very ....

4.1.2 New words

Can you guess what these words mean? Try to use them in sentences.

powerless   fearful   emotional   investigative   repetitive

Find some more adjectives with same endings in the dictionary and put them in your Record of Language Use.

4.2 '-ing' clauses

4.2.1 Some examples

You can use an '-ing' clause to describe what someone is doing at a certain time.

For example, on the cassette, the presenter said:

... the woman wearing a white dress

... the man in the back row holding a magazine

You can also use '-ing' clauses to describe something which is true all the time.

The river _dividing_ London is called the Thames.

Computer jobs _needing_ creativity are very important.

You can often use '-ing' clauses after 'there is/are'.

Is there anybody _waiting_ to ask a question?

There is a woman here _wearing_ a white dress.

Join the two halves of the sentence with an '-ing' verb.

land stand walk come

1. Look! There's a plane ...	a. ... over there.
2. The train ...	b. ... to see you today?
3. The teacher ...	c. ... towards us is called Mrs Fisher.
4. Is there anyone ...	d. ... at Platform 6 is for Kaesong.

4.2.2 Practice

Look at the picture. Write some questions about the students.

For example;

Is there anybody standing?

What are those two boys at the back doing?

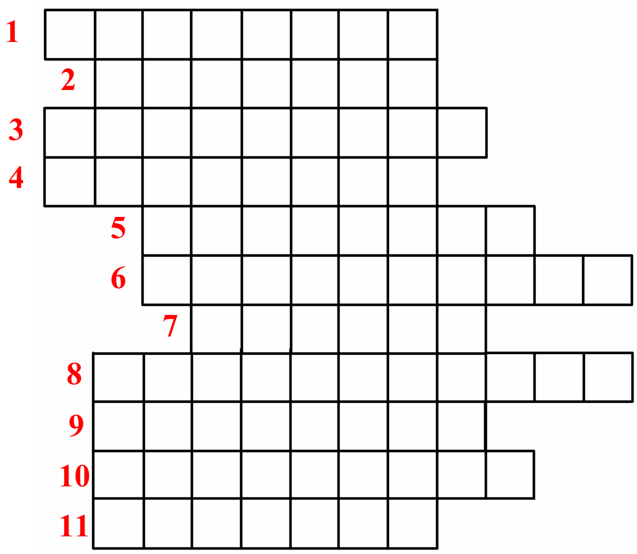

Give your questions to your partner to answer.

Supplementary Exercises

1 Vocabulary What's the adjective?

Read the clues. What adjective would you use for each one? Check your answers.

1. Somebody who can produce many new things or ideas
2. Somebody who likes to help others
3. Somebody who has very strong feelings
4. Something that will never get better
5. Something that is very usual, not special
6. Somebody who won't change their mind
7. Somebody who does a lot of sport
8. Somebody who has a very fast brain
9. Something that is the very first of its kind
10. Somebody who can think of many new ideas
11. Something that you can't use

2 Reading Different kinds of creativity

Read about six examples of creativity. Which is the most suitable title for each paragraph?

Titles

a. Make researches to suit the specific conditions
b. Believe in your own Ideas
c. Pay attention to your dreams
d. Introduce the achievements of science to the production
e. Ask questions about everything around you
f. Collect as much information as you can

1. In 1939 Dr Ri Sung Gi invented vinalon, a new chemical fibre, from polyvinyl alcohol for the first time in the world. His invention came into full bloom only after he was embraced in the warm bosom of the great leader Generalissimo Kim Il Sung. On the basis of his research achievements the independent large-scale vinalon industry was created in the DPR Korea. In Korea vinalon is produced from limestone and anthracite abundant in this country. He was a deputy to the Supreme People's Assembly, academician, doctor and professor. He was awarded the title of Labour Hero of the Republic, Kim Il Sung Prize and People's Prize, and crowned with People's Scientist.

2. Kye Ung Sang was a famous geneticist and a sericultural scientist. He breeded new high-yielding varieties of silkworms suitable for the climate and natural features of Korea. He made a great contribution to the development of sericultural industry by raising various kinds of mulberry silkworms, tussah silkworms and castor silkworms and introducing them to the production. Kye Ung Sang was a deputy to the Supreme People's Assembly and Labour Hero of the Republic. He was awarded the degrees and title of academician, professor and doctor for his contribution to the education of the rising generation and development of sericulture and genetics.

3. In 1901 a German scientist called William Roentgen received the first Nobel Prize for physics. He had discovered X-rays. He made his discovery when he noticed that in certain experiments a special kind of light was made by the cathode rays hitting a screen. The other scientists working with him had noticed this light but they did not think it was important. Roentgen was the first person to ask himself questions about this special kind of light. When he investigated it, he discovered a new kind of radiation called X-rays.

4. One of the problems facing creative people is that their ideas may be too new for the rest of the world. It often happens that people laugh at the work of artists and scientist. Barbara McClintock is a good example of someone who continued to think she was right although for 30 years other scientists thought that she was wrong. Finally, her work proving that genes can make sudden changes in heredity won her the Nobel Prize in 1983.

5. We often think that a creative idea suddenly comes into our heads from nowhere. This is not usually the case — it comes because we are ready to receive it. When someone asked Isaac Newton how he had discovered the laws of gravity, he replied, 'I am certain that any mind working on a problem continuously will be prepared for the sudden answer.' Albert Einstein won the Nobel Prize for physics in 1921 and said that there are discoveries waiting to be made if people continue to look and study all the time.

6. Many creative people looking for ideas or solutions find them in a visual form first. Elias Howe, the man who invented the sewing machine, had big problem facing him. He could not understand how to connect the needle to the rest of the machine. Needles had always had a pointed end, with the hole at the other end. One night in a dream he was 'attacked' by people with sharp spears. In the morning he said, 'There is the answer staring me in the face!' He made a hole in the sharp end of the needle and then connected it to the sewing machine.

3 '-ing' clauses Finding answers

3.1 Eight examples

Look back at the text in Exercise 2. Can you find two examples of '-ing' clauses in each paragraph? Underline them. For example:

Paragraph 3: ... cathode rays hitting a screen

3.2 Complete the sentence

Choose an '-ing' clause (a—e) to complete each of the sentences 1—5.

a. linking both airports in the city
b. facing people in large cities
c. performing the eye operation
d. now showing in town
e. eating lunch at school

1. One of the main problems .... is traffic congestion.
2. Students................. should bring their own knives, forks and cup.
3. The new motorway................ was opened last week.
4. The music film................. has been very popular.
5. The doctor............ is using microsurgery techniques.

3.3 Your ideas

Now complete these sentences with '-ing' clauses of your own.

1. The sea .... is called the Cook Strait.

2. The woman .... asked a lot of questions at the meeting.
3. Is there anyone .... the head teacher?
4. The train............................. is leaving in two minutes.
5. The biggest river.................. the Mediterranean is the Nile.
6. At five o'clock there were six patients....................... the doctor.

4 Suffixes Making adjectives

Use a dictionary and make adjectives with these nouns and verbs.
Use the suffixes in the box.

-less	-ful	-al	-ive

act	nation	attract	care	create impress	logic	music	effect	nature
peace	success	play	season

Write some sentences with five of the adjectives.

5 Writing and speaking Talk to Bob

Write your answers to Bob's questions. Then talk to him on the cassette.

BOB: Hi! How are you today?
YOU: ....
BOB: I'm fine, thanks. Well, actually, I'm pretty tired. We've been thinking about different ways of being creative—what kinds of creative things do you like doing?
YOU: ....
BOB: Oh yeah? That sounds interesting. I like drawing — I'm not very good but I really like drawing people. What about you?
YOU: ....
BOB: Oh, I see. The other thing I like doing is designing rooms — you know, painting the walls and furniture. I think I'd like to be a designer when I leave school. What kind of job do you think you want to do later?
YOU: ....
BOB: Hmmm. It's difficult to know, isn't it? I'm not sure what I'm really good at yet! What kind of things are you good at?
YOU: ....
BOB: Oh, are you? Well, I'm going to finish my homework now. Talk to you later. Bye!
YOU: ....

Unit 7

Culture Matters

Discover New Zealand

1 Discussion What do you know?

What do you know about New Zealand? Work alone or with a partner and answer this quiz. Check your answers as you work through the Unit.

1. New Zealand's nearest neighbour is …

   a. Korea
   b. Britain
   c. Australia
   d. Russia

2. What can't you find in New Zealand?

   a. volcanoes
   b. deserts
   c. mountains
   d. rivers

3. Who or what are the 'Maoris'?

   a. range of mountains
   b. people who came to New Zealand before Europeans
   c. seasonal strong winds
   d. strange wild animals

4. Who are 'pakeha'?

   a. Black people
   b. White people
   c. Coloured people
   d. Indians

2 Reading New Zealand

2.1 What can you predict?

Don't read the texts yet! Look at the picture and headings. Which sentences do you think will come in each section? Write the title next to each sentence.

1. The Maoris lived in tribal groups.
2. Both islands are mountainous.
3. The Maoris came to New Zealand from the Polynesian islands.
4. They are proud of their culture.
5. Only 30% of New Zealand is flat.
6. The official language of New Zealand is English

Skim the texts to check your answers.

2.2 Asking questions

Read one of the texts carefully. Write questions at the end of each sentence like this:

The official language of New Zealand is English and it is spoken everywhere.

Why is English the official Language?

Compare your questions with your neighbour.

2.3 Some Maori words

Look again at the text about the Maoris. It has these Maori words in it. What do they mean?

ariki hapu hui pakeha

Compare your meanings with your partner. Why do you think the text uses Maori words?

3 Listening Maori film

3.1 Taboos and mana

Listen to Part 1 of the cassette. Piatta Rangitanie is talking about a new Maori film. What do the words 'taboo' and 'mana' mean?

3.2 Two sides

Listen to Part 2. What were the differences between the two sides of the family? Fill in the chart.

Maoris in the mountains	Maoris in the cities
spoke Maori	spoke English

Are there any differences like these between people in our country?

4 Research — Decide ... Investigate New Zealand

Choose a or b. During the next week, see if you can find some answers. Tell the class what you discover.

a. Your questions

Brainstorm some questions.

What questions do you have about New Zealand now?

What would you like to find out?

b. People, places and dates

Why are these people, dates, places and things important in New Zealand?

Abel Tasman	James Cook	Rotorua	1642
Maori Wars	Queen/King of Britain	kiwi	wallaby	Rotorua

Fact box: New Zealand

Population: 3 600 000
Location: South of the Equator Nearest neighbour: Australia; 1 800km away
Languages: English and Maori
Climate: Mild climate Rain falls all year Coldest month: July Size: Two main islands—North Island and South Island: Together they are 1 600km long Capital: Wellington

What language?

The official language of New Zealand is English and it is spoken everywhere. Many Maoris are bilingual — they speak their own language (Maori) and English.

The Maoris

When the Maoris first arrived in New Zealand, they lived in villages and were excellent fishermen, hunters and farmers. About 50 years ago many Maoris started to live and work in the large cities and took jobs in government, industries, medicine and education. They are proud of their culture and want to keep many of the traditions which are part of their way of life.

The Maoris lived in tribal groups called 'kiwi' and each tribe was made up of smaller groups called 'hapu'. The tribes were controlled by chiefs ('ariki') who made the important decisions about the day to day life of the people. On important occasions such as weddings they have large parties called 'hui'.

What can you see?

Mountains, volcanoes, rivers, lakes, waterfalls, forests, beaches, maybe an earthquake! Both islands are mountainous. In fact, only 30% of New Zealand is flat. South Island has got 20 mountain peaks which are higher than 3 000 metres. The highest peak is called Mount Cook, which is part of the Southern Alps.

Who can you meet?

Most people live on North Island. Eighty-five percent of New Zealanders are 'pakeha' ('White men') which means their ancestors came from Europe. Ten percent are Maoris. The Maoris came to New Zealand from the Polynesian islands probably about 1 000 years ago. The 'pakeha' started to arrive in New Zealand from Europe about 200 years ago as farmers and traders.

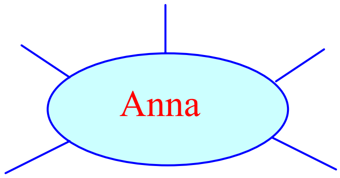

Supplementary Exercises

Specific information: Here you can practise listening for specific information (intensive listening) about people, places and numbers.

1 Listening for names People

1.1 Names and relationships

Listen to Anna talking about some people. What are their names and what is their relationship to her? Complete the diagram.

1.2 Helen Keller's life

Listen to the next text about Helen Keller. Write 'Yes' or 'No' next to each question. Does the text mention this information?

1. when Helen was born
2. where she lived
3. when she died
4. the name of her teacher
5. how she communicated
6. her nationality
7. if her teacher was a man or a woman

Listen again and check your answers.

2 Listening for numbers Numbers

2.1 The world's languages

Listen to the next text and tick the numbers you hear.

10	1	10 000	1 000 000 000
13	200 000	50%	200
372	1 134	2 000	70

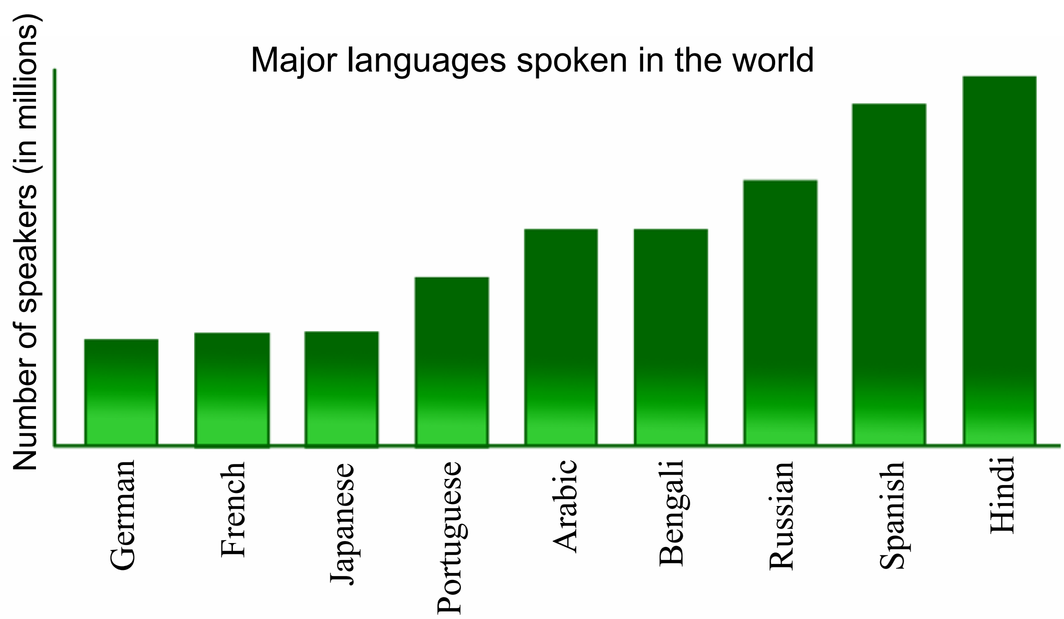

Listen to the text again. One word in each of these phrases is missing. Write the word which you hear.

THE WORLD'S LANGUAGES

New research (1) .... that there are about 10 000 languages in the world today, which is 50% more than scientists had thought (2) .... Some languages, (3) .... Chinese and English, are spoken by more than a thousand million people. Other languages are spoken by very small (4) .... of people, such as Bikya, which is only spoken by one very old (5) .... who lives between (6) .... and the Cameroons, and also a language called Liv which 200 people in (7) .... speak. Icelandic is the smallest national language, with 200 000 speakers. After Chinese and English, (8) .... is the third most spoken language, followed by Spanish.

2.2 Write the numbers

Listen to the next text and write the numbers on the chart.

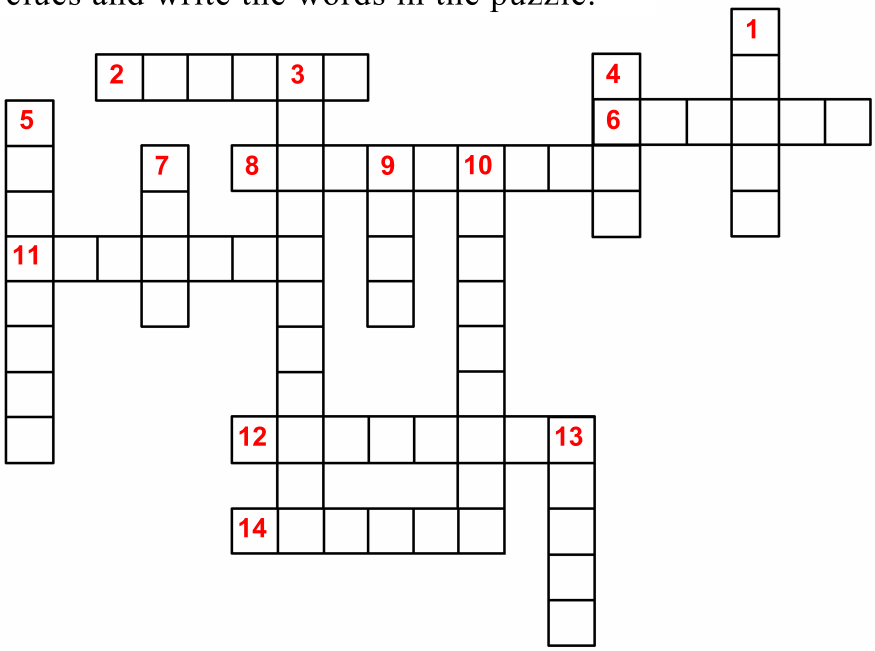

Unit 8 Revision and Test

(Units 5 – 7)

Revision

1 Vocabulary A verb puzzle

Read the clues and write the words in the puzzle.

Across

2. Many different things .... the way we behave.
6. connect, join
8. Ask someone a lot of questions, especially if they want a job.
11. make something better
12. dream during the day
14. If something is broken, you can try to .... it.

Down

1. A piece of paper that has nothing on it is ....
3. to pay a lot of attention to something or someone
4. When people are tired they often do this.
5. a person who designs things
7. make an illness better
9. receive money from working
10. somebody who offers to do something, often for very little or no money
13. very small, not important

2 'Long' (formal) questions Asking polite questions

You are in a large library and you need some information for a project on sea animals. Write some polite questions to ask the librarian. You need to know:

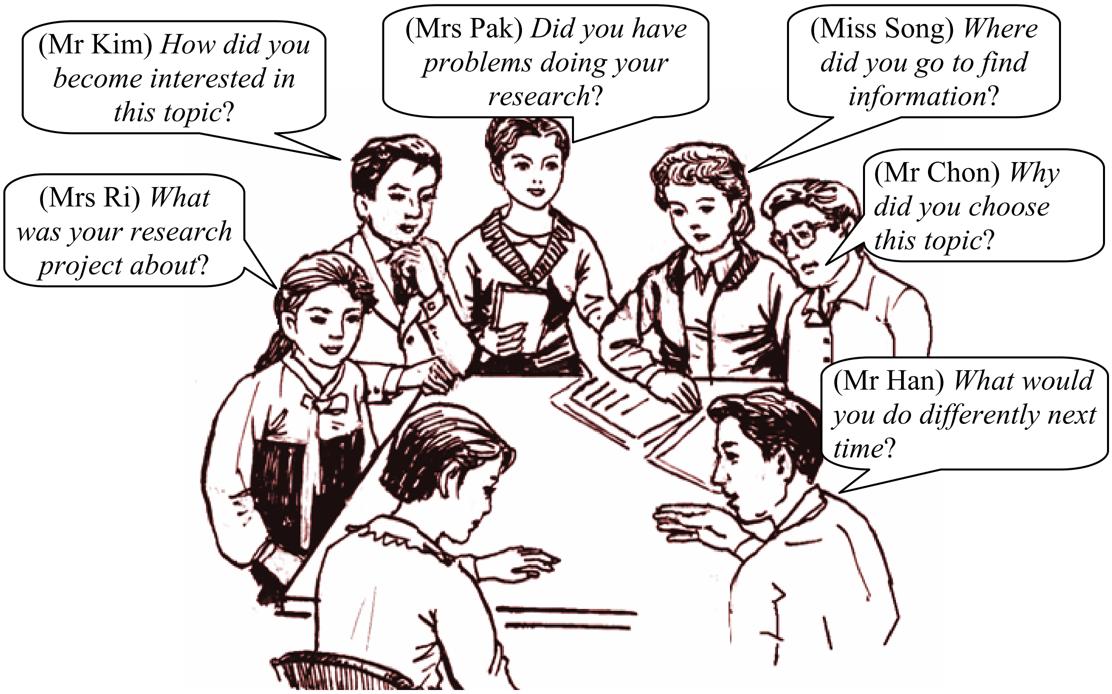

1. what section of the library has books about sea animals
2. if you can borrow the books
3. if you have to pay anything
4. if you can photocopy
5. when the library is open at weekends
6. how you can use the computers

1. ....
2. ....
3. ....
4. ....
5. ....
6. ....

3 Reported questions The interview

It's examination time! The teachers asked Mrs Sin these questions about her project. After the interview Mrs Sin told her friends about the questions. What did she say?

1. Mrs Ri asked me what my research project was about.
2. ....
3. ....
4. ....
5. ....
6. ....

4 In the studio

Look at the picture of the people working in their studios. Write about each of the people in the box like this.

The person writing music in studio 1 is a composer.

sculptor	composer	weaver	photographer
potter	choreographer	graphic artist	clothes designer

The world we make

Write these words in the most appropriate area of the vocabulary map. (Some words can go in two or more areas.) You can also add the meanings in Korean language (in the bottom half of each box). Can you add any more words that you know or any more areas to the map?

~~active~~	~~blank~~	~~concentrate~~	~~creative~~	~~daydream~~	~~dream~~
~~earn~~	~~express~~	~~emotional~~	fascinating	fearful	helpless hopeless	improve	inflexible	intelligent	inventive	irritable
minor	nap	ordinary	original	powerless	relaxed repair	repetitive	solve	useless

Test

1 Writing Some revision cards

You can help yourself and other students in your class if you make your own revision cards. Your revision cards can include a short text and some exercises. Follow these steps to learn how to make them.

1.1 Look back

Work with your neighbour. Look back at a Topic and Language Unit in your textbook and answer these questions. Tell the class what you have found.

What is the first exercise in a Unit usually about?

Can you find an exercise where you have to produce something—for example a poster or a letter?

Is there a text?

What exercises are there about a text?

Can you find an exercise that involves:

listening?	speaking?	reading?
writing?	grammar?	vocabulary?

For example, look at part of Unit 1, 2, 5, 6. Can you match each label to the correct exercise or exercises?

a. an exercise that asks what you think or do
b. an exercise that asks you to listen and understand generally
c. an exercise that asks you to listen and find details
d. an exercise that asks you to brainstorm your ideas
e. a text to read
f. an exercise to test your comprehension
g. an exercise to increase your vocabulary

1.2 Make your own revision cards

Work with your neighbour or in a small group. To make your own revision cards, you first need a topic. It can be something you have studied in other subjects or something else you would like to write about. Discuss your ideas and choose something!

What can you write? Note down your ideas. You can write the text together in your group, or you can each do different parts. You decide!

1.3 Write the exercises

What exercises can you write about your text? Look at the ideas in Steps 1 and 2 and decide who will write the different exercises. You can look at the Ideas List for more ideas.

1.4 Put it all together

Check your spelling, grammar and vocabulary. Then put your text and exercises together. You can also add some pictures or drawings. Exchange cards with other students or classes.

2 Thinking A letter to You

There is a letter on the next page from the authors to you.

Work by yourself or in small group. Think about your answers to the questions and write to the authors!

Dear Students

This is the end of the textbook! We hope that you have enjoyed using it and that it has helped you to improve your English. We also hope that the book has helped you to learn a lot of other things about the world.

Now that you have come to the end of the book, we would like to learn something from you! We would like to hear your opinions and ideas about this book. In that way, we can continue to improve the books that we write. Can you write to us and tell us what you think? Here are some questions:

Did you like the topics in the book?

What was your favourite topic?

What was your least favourite topic?

Did you find the exercises difficult, easy or just right?
Were there some types of exercises that you liked a lot?
Were there some types of exercises that you didn't like at all?
If there was another book after this, what topics would you like in it?
Please also tell us something about yourself:
How old are you? How long have you been studying English?
Many thanks! We look forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes

PART II

Unit 1 That Crazy Tower in Pisa

Three million people visit Pisa each year. That's a lot of people. Why do they come to this town in Italy? To see a tower. The tower is not straight. The crazy tower leans! It is known as the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

The tower looks as if it might fall at any time. In fact, some visitors stop at the tower just long enough to take a picture. Then they hurry away. Other visitors climb the 294 steps to the top – and come down, feeling like heroes.

Engineers say that the visitors are safe – at least for a while. But the tower does lean. It slants 14 feet 10 inches at the present time. The tower has been leaning for 800 years. And every year it leans a tiny bit more. If this keeps on, the tower will fall.

You may wonder what makes the tower lean. If you look at the tower, you will see that one side of the tower is deeper in the earth than the other.

The foundation on which the tower rests has sunk into the soil on the leaning side. Why has this happened?

Pisa's tower weighs 14 500 tons. The soil of the town is a mixture of clay and sand and water. A heavy tower built on soil like this must have a very strong foundation. The Leaning Tower's foundation is just not deep enough and wide enough for the tower above it.

Can anything be done about the tower? Yes, Italian engineers have several plans. They don't want to make the tower straight – just keep it from leaning any further. So all the plans call for a new foundation that won't sink.

But a new foundation can't be built while the tower is resting on the old one. The tower must be raised. And it must have something to rest on while the new foundation is being built.

The tower could be raised with jacks. They would be like the jacks we use to raise automobiles to change the tires. Only these jacks would be giant ones. One plan calls for 15 of them to be placed around the tower. Each of the giant jacks would be on its own foundation. And each of them could lift 1 000 tons. The 15 jacks would raise the 14 500-ton tower and hold it up while the new foundation is being built.

The Italian engineers are searching for the best plan to save the tower. They know that any plan will take a lot of money. They are trying to get the money from the Italian government. But many Italians refuse to believe that the old tower is in danger. “It leans and leans and leans,” they say. “But it will never fall down.” The engineers want to make sure that it won’t.

Exercises

1. Answer the questions

1) Why is the tower called the Leaning Tower of Pisa?
2) What makes the Tower of Pisa lean?
3) How many steps to the top are there?
4) Why has one side of the foundation sunk into the soil?
5) How many years has the tower been leaning?
6) Do the Italian engineers try to make the tower straight?
7) How many tons can each of the jacks lift?
8) What can giant jacks be used for?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find out single words from the text that mean:

(1) made up of irregularly shaped pieces fitted together
(2) be in a sloping position
(3) do something more quickly
(4) protected from danger
(5) be placed on
(6) fall slowly downwards
(7) the solid base of a building underground
(8) without a bend or curve
(9) device for raising heavy weights off the ground
(10) enormous
(11) lift something to a higher level

2) Word building

(1) The suffixes "-ment", "-ation", "-sion" and "-ion" are used to form nouns from verbs;

e.g. govern → government　　assign → assignment found → foundation　　introduce → introduction comprehend → comprehension　　confuse → confusion

Now complete the following table:

Verb	Noun	Verb	Noun
	announcement		management suggest		examine development		combination
decide		move
	completion		employment produce		distract organization		division
entertain			consideration
	protection		recognition
	permission	exhibit

(2) Complete the following table:

Country	Adjective	Person	Country	Adjective	Person
Italy	Italian	an Italian	Ethiopia
Korea	Korean		Congo	Congolese
Australia		an Australian		Russian
	Chinese			Spanish	a Spaniard
		a Canadian	Germany
England					an Indian
	French		Greece	Greek
		a Japanese	Iraq

3) Read the text again and find out antonyms corresponding to the following words.

(1)	little	(a.) ( )	(7)	weak	(a.) ( )
(2)	dangerous	(a.) ( )	(8)	narrow	(a.) ( )
(3)	past	(a.) ( )	(9)	curved	(a.) ( )
(4)	shallow	(a.) ( )	(10)	float	(v.) ( )
(5)	light	(a.) ( )	(11)	delay	(v.) ( )
(6)	tiny	(a.) ( )	(12)	lower	(v.) ( )

3. Grammar exercises

1) Make one sentence from two. Complete the new sentence using "enough" or "too" as in the models.

Model 1: Two people can't stand on the chair. / It isn't strong enough.

→ The chair isn't strong enough to stand on.

Model 2: We couldn't eat it. / The food was very hot.

→ The food was too hot to eat.

(1) We couldn't carry the boxes. / They were too heavy.
The boxes were ____________________________________.

(2) I can't drink this coffee. / It's too hot.
This coffee is ____________________________________.

(3) Three people can't sit on this sofa. / It isn't big enough.
This sofa ____.

(4) Don't eat these apples. / They're not ripe enough.
These apples ______________________________________.

(5) We can swim in the river. / It is warm enough.
It is ____.

(6) Nobody could move the piano. / It was too heavy.
The piano ____.

(7) We couldn't climb over the wall. / It was too high.
The wall was ______________________________________.

(8) You can't see any things without a microscope. / They are too small.
Some things are ________________________________.

(9) I can't explain the situation. / It is too complicated.
The situation is ________________________________.

(10) You can touch the ceiling. / It is low enough.
The ceiling is ________________________________.

2) Reconstruct these sentences using "make", "let" and "have".

(1) The teacher asked the pupil to say the sentence again. The boy did so.

(2) She wanted the child to drink some milk. But the child did not.

(3) We told him many jokes. We wanted him to laugh, but he did not.

(4) Sunshine helps the growth of plants.

(5) The earth pulls things to itself. So an apple falls down.

(6) The Duke asked the soldiers to tie the boy to a tree.

(7) My teacher wanted me to go to the library every Sunday.

(8) I asked him to repair the door.

(9) He told me to stay here for three days.

(10) My mother wanted me to write a diary every day.

3) Change the following active sentences into passive ones.

(1) Somebody is using the computer at the moment.

(2) This plant has fulfilled the yearly plan.

(3) They are discussing an important problem at the meeting.

(4) We have just finished the work.

(5) We met the delegation at the airport.

(6) We raise rice in this part of the country.

(7) I must do it at once.

(8) You can use this material for your work.

(9) Everybody looked at the boy.

(10) They took a great care of him.

4) Make the plural of the nouns ending in "- o".

(1) - s

radio	piano	photo	kilo	video	studio
stereo	cockatoo	kangaroo	zoo	disco

(2) - s / - es

dodo	dingo	buffalo	zero	volcano

(3) - es

tomato	potato	mosquito	Negro	hero	echo

Find three mistakes in the following.

Photos	dodoes	zeroes	tomatoes	Negroes
Potatos	kilos	buffaloes	videos	pianoes
Radios	stereos	mosquitoes	studios	echos heroes

4. Writing

1) Make short sentences.

(1) as if ... (2) at least (3) for a while

(4) call for ... (5) be in danger (6) make sure

2) Put into English.

(1) 주체사상탑은 위대한 주체사상을 후대들에게 길이 전할것이다. (hand down, forever)

(2) 21세기는 정보산업의 시대이므로 누구나 다 콤퓨터를 다룰줄 알아야 한다.

(3) 어제 나는 영남이와 함께 사진을 찍었다.

(4) 그는 외국인과 영어로 말할수 있으리만큼 영어를 잘한다.

(5) 누가 어제 고장난 콤퓨터를 수리했습니까?

(6) 나는 지난주에 학교리발소에서 머리를 깎았다.

(7) 그는 우리 기술자들이 곧 새로운 형의 선반을 만들어낼것이라고 확신하였다. (lathe)

"My Visit to the Tower of the Juche Idea"

Unit 2 Mother to Birds

From the time he was a boy, Konrad Lorenz studied how birds behave in the place where they really belong —outdoors. He lived near a beautiful lake where hundreds of water birds lived.

Many times he sat near the lake, watching a mother goose warm her eggs in her nest. He watched the goslings hatch out of their eggs. As he watched, he wondered: Why do goslings follow their mother so closely? How do they know she is their mother? It seemed that goslings were born ready to follow just as human babies are born ready to suck milk. No one teaches them, but somehow they know. Goslings have an ‘instinct’ to follow. But how do they know whom to follow? Lorenz thought that they might follow anyone, even a human being like himself.

To test this idea, he made an experiment. He put goose eggs in an incubator. When goslings hatched, they saw Lorenz looking at them. He gently placed them on the floor. Soon after they began to walk, they followed Lorenz wherever he went.

Lorenz made this experiment again and again, and found the fact that goslings accept as their mother anybody they see right after they hatch. They will always follow that ‘mother’ whoever ‘she’ may be. Lorenz called this ‘imprinting’. In the experiment, the goslings were imprinted on Lorenz. In nature, they are imprinted on their real mother. Lorenz tried the same experiment with ducklings. When they hatched, however, they did not follow him. They ran away from him and hid in a dark corner.

Lorenz then remembered a farmyard duck that hatched out wild duck eggs he had put in her nest. The wild ducklings followed her around happily though she looked quite different from a mother wild duck. Perhaps it was the kind of quack that the mother duck made, he thought.

Lorenz practised the call of a wild duck. Then he put more duck eggs in the incubator. As soon as they hatched, he began quacking like the mother bird. “Quahg, gegeg, quahg, gegeg.” They followed him! Lorenz then knew that ducklings are imprinted on anybody who quacks like a mother duck.

After that, Lorenz became mother to many ducklings and goslings. When he walked to the lake, a line of goslings would follow him. As he swam in the water, the goslings swam behind him.

When the goslings grew up, they had babies of their own. But whenever they saw Lorenz, they hurried over to greet him. To them, he was still their mother.

Exercises

1. Answer the questions

1) Did goslings follow anyone they like?
2) What experiment did he make at first?
3) What fact did he find through repeated experiments?
4) What was "imprinting"?
5) Why did the wild ducklings follow a farmyard duck that hatched out them?
6) Why do ducklings follow their mother so closely?
7) How do they know she is their mother?
8) What interesting thing happened when Lorenz walked to the lake and swam in the water?
9) Do you have any experience of taming a bird?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find out the single words from the text that mean:

(1) young goose

(2) produce a young bird from an egg

(3) draw liquid such as milk into the mouth by using the lip muscles

(4) natural inborn tendency to behave in a certain way without training

(5) boxlike apparatus for hatching eggs

(6) space enclosed by or next to farm buildings

(7) young duck

(8) harsh sound made by a duck

2) Fill up the following table.

Male	Female	Young
cock	hen	chick
drake	duck
gander	goose peahen
ox		calf
hog		piglet
he-cat	she-cat
stallion		foal

3) Choose the words in Column A which have nearly the same meaning in Column B.

A	B	A	B
accept	instruct	put	look at greet	consider	teach	bow
hide	place	think	conceal live	receive	watch	examine
jog	walk	test	dwell

4) Read the text again and find out antonyms corresponding to the following words.

(1) accept	(v.)	( )	(9) cool	(a.)	( )
(2) forget	(v.)	( )	(10) ugly	(a.)	( )
(3) seek	(v.)	( )	(11) tame	(a.)	( )
(4) stand	(v.)	( )	(12) far	(a.)	( )
(5) bright	(a.)	( )	(13) before	(prep.)	( )
(6) learn	(v.)	( )	(14) roughly	(ad.)	( )
(7) long	(ad.)	( )	(15) unhappily	(ad.)	( )
(8) indifferent	(a.)	( )	(16) unreal	(a.)	( )

5) Word building

(1) Give the noun form of each of the following adjectives.

Adjectives	Nouns	Adjectives	Nouns	Adjectives	Nouns miserable		happy		angry
probable		proud		high comfortable		free		true
impatient		silent		young anxious		honest		glad interesting		safe		sad

(2) The suffixes "-al", "-ance", and "-ence" can be used to form nouns from verbs. Now fill up the following table:

Verbs	Nouns	Verbs	Nouns	Verbs	Nouns accept		confer			refusal appear			arrival		removal dependence		insistence	rely differ			guidance	prefer disturbance	perform		propose existence	sign			survival

3. Grammar exercises

1) Fill the blanks with whoever, whichever, whatever, whenever, wherever, and however.

(1) He will give ______ you may need.

(2) We will go to our dinner ______ the clock strikes one.

(3) I will take ______ you like.

(4) ______ comes, will be welcomed.

(5) ______ tired you may be, you must do it.

(6) You must be among the people ______ you go.

(7) ______ I called on him, he was out.

(8) _____ he may be, I don't want to see him.

(9) _____ you may stay, please keep in touch with me.

(10) You can't move the stone _____ strong you are.

2) Translate the following sentences into Korean paying attention to the appositive conjunction "that".

(1) The fact that Mary was black made it difficult for her to get a job.

(2) The news that he has been defeated in the competition is not true.

(3) The idea of "Aim High" implies the revolutionary spirit that one must aim high and fight to the last in order to achieve the independence of one's country.

(4) We have the conviction that we shall surely win.

(5) The judge paid a lot of attention to the fact that Tom was unhappy at home; he held the parents responsible for the fact that the child had run away.

(6) The news that our new project was approved was very encouraging.

(7) The fact that Johnson was caught for stealing surprised everybody.

(8) The news that she got the first place in the English competition was really surprising.

(9) The idea that we can work with computers is very exciting.

(10) The possibility that a small star hit the earth attracts many people's attention.

4. Writing

1) Make short sentences.

(1) just as

(2) somehow

(3) in nature

(4) run away

(5) again and again

(6) right after

(7) hurry over

(8) a line of ...

2) Put into English.

(1) 날씨가 아무리 나쁘다해도 우리는 반드시 그 일을 해내겠다.

(2) 안내원은 누가 물어보든 언제나 친절하게 대답한다.

(3) 이 도서관에서는 아무 책이나 마음에 드는것을 읽을수 있다.

(4) 무엇을 하든지간에 그것을 훌륭히 하시오.

(5) 어떤 일이 있어도 나는 과업을 수행하겠다.

(6) 그가 누구이든 나는 상관없다.

(7) 내가 할수 있는것은 무엇이나 다 하겠다.

(8) 그는 나를 볼 때마다 웃으며 인사했다.

Unit 3 Satellites

The moon travels round the earth once every month. It is a natural satellite of the earth. A satellite is an object, either natural or man-made, which travels in an orbit round another object in space.

Man-made satellites are carried up into space by rockets. To escape the pull of the earth, a rocket must reach a speed of 28 440 km/h. If the rocket does not reach this speed, it will fall back to the earth.

A satellite is one of the most expensive pieces of scientific equipment in the world. First, it must be very light, the lighter the better, because it has to be sent up into space by a rocket. Second, it usually contains very expensive cameras. It has equipment for making electricity from sunshine, using very broad sun panels. These are folded up inside the satellite.

Once the satellite goes into its orbit round the earth, the panels are unfolded in order to catch the sunshine. There is a rocket motor on the satellite by which the direction of the satellite can be changed if necessary.

Satellites for broadcasting are used to send radio and TV programmes from one part of the world to another. Most of these satellites do not change their positions. They remain above the same place on the earth and travel round it in a very high circle. In this way, they are able to connect broadcasting stations which are a long distance from each other. Signals travel at the speed of light. They reach the satellite and return to the earth in less than a second.

Weather satellites send information and photos of weather conditions to weather stations on the earth. It is therefore possible to say not only what the weather is like at present, but also what is likely to happen in the next day or two. This is very useful when there is a hurricane in an area, as it is possible to see the path of the hurricane in the satellite pictures. Ships and planes can be warned so that they can keep out of the path of the hurricane.

In 1964 a group of 17 countries set up an organization for sending telephone signals by satellite. Their first satellite was called Early Bird.

Today there are more than 100 nations in this group and dozens of satellites have been put into space. You can telephone somebody on the other side of the world with the help of a satellite. Satellites are used more and more to take photos of the earth and to produce maps. Special cameras can produce pictures showing where different metals can be found. They can tell the difference between healthy plants and plants that are diseased. This is useful for scientists who work in forests and in agriculture.

There are many research stations on the earth in which outer space is studied. The problem with looking into space from the earth is that there is a lot of dust in the earth's air. The dusty air makes it difficult to get a clear picture of space. With space satellites there are no such problems. They are being used more and more to collect information about space, to carry out experiments and to send the information back to research centres on the earth.

August 31, Juche 87(1998), witnessed a miraculous event in the DPRK. A rocket-powered delivery vehicle carrying an artificial earth satellite had jumped off into the sky, roaring and sparkling. Both the artificial satellite Kwangmyongsong 1 and the multistage rocket-powered launch vehicle are the domestic products of this country－100%, from the materials to designing, production and assembling.

There are only a few countries capable of launching and managing the artificial satellites on their own throughout the world. The DPRK's successful launching of its artificial satellite into the right orbit of the outer space at a go indicates that its satellite-launching technology has reached the world standard and its technique of manufacturing regulation and communication equipment is at a high level.

The successful launching makes it possible for the DPRK to launch application satellites at any time.

Exercises

1. Answer the questions

1) What is a satellite?
2) Why is it possible for a man-made satellite to go into space?
3) How can we put satellite into space?
4) How does a satellite produce electricity?
5) Why is it necessary for broadcasting satellites not to change their positions?

6) Why do we use weather satellites?
7) What does a weather satellite give us?
8) When was the organization for sending telephone signals by satellites set up?
9) How many weather satellites have been put into space?
10) What can we do with the satellites?
11) What are there many research stations on the earth for?
12) Can't we study space on the earth?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find out single words from the text that mean:

(1) a natural body in space going round a planet
(2) path followed by a planet round another body
(3) universe beyond the earth's atmosphere
(4) get free
(5) easy to lift or move
(6) wide
(7) curved line every point on which is the same distance from the centre
(8) join
(9) storm with a violent wind
(10) a set of twelve
(11) careful study or investigation

2) Fill in each blank with one of the words below.

broad	fold	signal	camera	circle	connect

(1) A piece of equipment for taking photographs of making films is called a ...

(2) The word .... means "very wide".

(3) The kitchen is very small. To save space, we .... up the table after each meal.

(4) When you .... a pipe or wire to something, you join the end of it to the end of the other thing.

(5) Mr Brown was waiting in the studio. When he saw the .... , he began to speak.

(6) Let's sit in a .... round the table to have a round-table meeting.

3) Choose the right word for each blank.

(1) UFO means an unidentified flying .... (object, subject)

(2) What .... will you study this term? (object, subject)

(3) I am not sure that this is the .... to the Korean Revolution Museum. (direction, position)

Unit 4 Master of the Mountain Peaks

As darkness fell, hundreds of people in the Swiss village left their houses. They stood in groups along the main street. Some were worried. Some were fearful. All were silent, waiting for a signal light. They were staring up at the mighty Matterhorn.

The shape of the mountain peak is a triangle. All year, ice and snow cover the peak, making it beautiful – and dangerous.

Over the years, thousands of mountain climbers had reached the sharp peak of the Matterhorn. All of them used the southern route. But no one had ever dared to try a winter climb up the northern side. And there was good reason.

This route was called "the impossible". The climb was straight up, and in winter the whole mountainside was covered with ice. It was like trying to climb up a glass wall.

But now one man was daring to try the "impossible". Walter Bonatti, a famous mountain climber from Italy, was this man.

For two days he had inched his way upward. For two days the village people had watched him. Now they waited for his nightly signal. The climber would light a green flare if he planned to go on the next day. A red light meant that he was turning back.

Exactly at eight o'clock, a tiny green light glowed high on the mountainside. Bonatti was not giving up! The people cheered. Chattering among themselves, they returned to their warm, comfortable homes.

The mountain climber was neither warm nor comfortable. He was making his "bed" against a rock wall. He hammered two steel spikes into the rock. Between them he stretched a hammock – a hanging bed of ropes and strong cloth. Carefully, the weary climber crawled into the hammock.

The cold was terrible. To keep his feet from freezing, he drummed them against the side of the mountain. This movement kept his blood stirring. He dared not fall asleep.

The next day Bonatti clawed his way upward. He was so lonely and so tired! But he would not give up. Again that night he lit the green light. Then he put up the hammock and crept into it. He knew that tomorrow would be the end of the adventure – one way or another.

In the morning, Bonatti looked above him. He could not see the top of the Matterhorn, but he knew he was almost there.

Bonatti took off both his mittens. He would use his bare hands. He must feel each piece of rock and test its strength. He must fit his fingers into any possible slit. Often he would have to crush the ice above with his ax. Only then could he find a place to hook his fingers. Oh, how his arms ached! His fingers were cracked and bleeding. His boots slid on the icy rocks. But he moved up, inch by painful inch, toward the sky.

Bonatti had spent months training for this climb. He did headstands and handstands. He squeezed rubber balls to strengthen his fingers. He spent nights sleeping out of doors in below-freezing weather. And every day Bonatti practised climbing a 1 000-foot-high mountain wall near his home. But had he trained enough? Did he have the strength to make it to the top?

A small plane circled the peak of the Matterhorn. The pilot and crew looked for signs of Bonatti. At first they saw only the six-foot iron cross at the top. The cross was put there for climbers who had died on this mountain.

Then suddenly the watchers saw some movement. Bonatti was coming into view over the edge of the highest rock. First his hand, then his head and shoulders showed. Very, very slowly, he dragged himself up. He was over the edge! He was at the top!

The pilot radioed the news to the village. Bonatti had reached the peak by the "impossible" northern route!

The trip down the southern route was easy. He was tired but joyous. The village welcomed him with bands and fireworks. Later, he was given a gold medal. Walter Bonatti had done the "impossible". He was, indeed, master of the mountain peaks.

Exercises

1. Answer the questions

1) Had other climbers reached the peak of the Matterhorn before Bonatti made his climb?
2) Why was the northern route called "the impossible"?
3) How did the people know that Bonatti did not give up but continued to climb up?

4) How was the weather on Matterhorn?
5) How did he sleep on the ice wall?
6) How many days did it take for him to climb up the peak?
7) How do you explain his being able to make “the impossible” climb?
8) What helped Bonatti most – his training, strength, bravery or something else?
9) What do you admire most about him?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find out the single words from the text that mean:

(1) a pointed top of a mountain
(2) way taken or planned to get from one place to another
(3) sign that conveys a message
(4) bright light used as a signal
(5) send out light without flame
(6) talk quickly, continuously
(7) hard thin pointed piece of metal
(8) bed made of canvas suspended by cords at the ends
(9) type of glove covering four fingers and the thumb separately
(10) long narrow cut or opening
(11) person who operates the controls of an aircraft

2) Find out the letter of Bonatti’s reason for doing each thing.

What he did	His reasons
1. carried an ax	a. to strengthen fingers
2. took off mittens	b. to rest against a steep rock wall
3. hung a hammock on spikes	c. to feel out each rock for holds
4. drummed his feet	d. to chop holds in ice
5. squeezed rubber balls	e. to keep from freezing

3) Word building

(1) The suffix "-y" can be added to nouns to form adjectives, with the meaning "full of, having, containing, covered with, or inclined to".

e.g. might + -y → mighty: having might fun + -y → funny: full of fun salt + -y → salty: containing salt dust + -y → dusty: covered with dust sleep + -y → sleepy: inclined to sleep

Now form adjectives by adding "-y" to the nouns listed below and use them in the following sentences.

noise	health	dirt	storm	rose	sun	smoke
rain	mud	sleep	taste	smell

① The children looked wonderful with their bright eyes and _____ cheeks.
② "Don't touch the biscuits with your _____ hands," cried Mrs Johnson to her son Tom. "Go and wash them!"
③ You can hear the _____ motorcycle from a distance.
④ "Big Jim" and his friends began to smoke after lunch and soon made the room ______.
⑤ It is too _____ to sail today.
⑥ I hope it will be _____ tomorrow. We have had too many _____ days.
⑦ When you walk on _____ ground, you get mud on your shoes.
⑧ Take the _____ fish out of the refrigerator!
⑨ I feel ______. Open the window.
⑩ Last night he treated us with _____ food at the restaurant.

(2) Form verbs by adding "-en" to the nouns given below and then put them in the blanks to complete the following sentences. Change the form where necessary.

Model: threat → threaten
The clouds threaten rain.

strength	haste	length	height	fright	heart

① We will not be _____ by threats.

② The new owner of the house was so tall that the doorway had to _____ before he moved in.

③ A sure way to _____ your muscles is to practise weight lifting.

④ His last year's trousers are now outgrown and need _____ a little.

⑤ The death of Mr Black _____ the final breaking up of the family.

⑥ We _____ greatly _____ by the news that the Korean team defeated the American team in the Olympic games.

(3) The suffix "-en" can be added to adjectives to form verbs, meaning "make" or "become".

e.g. bright + -en → brighten: make or become bright or brighter

Now complete the following sentences with verbs formed in this way from the adjectives given in brackets:

① The river _____ at its mouth where it meets the sea. (broad)

② His interests _____ as he grew up. (wide)

③ We must _____ our steps if we don't want to be caught in the rain. (quick)

④ As the storm approached, the sky _____. (dark)

⑤ This knife of yours needs _____. (sharpening)

⑥ This new highway _____ the trip from this city to the capital. (short)

3. Grammar exercises

1) Join each of the following pairs of sentences, using a participle as in the model.

Model: You are planting the flowers. / You must take care not to damage the roots.

→ Planting the flowers, you must take care not to damage the roots.

(1) He got on his horse. / He began riding at full speed.

(2) I sat in the front row. / I could see everything clearly.

Unit 5 How to Improve Your Study Habits

Perhaps you are an average student with average intelligence. You do well enough in school, but you probably think you will never be a top student. This is not necessarily the case, however. You can receive better grades if you want to. Here's how:

Plan your time carefully. Make a list of your weekly tasks. Then make a schedule or chart of your time. Fill in committed time such as eating, sleeping, meetings, classes, etc. Then decide on good, regular times for studying. Be sure to set aside enough time to complete your normal reading and work assignments. Of course, studying shouldn't occupy all of the free time on the schedule. It's important to set aside time for relaxation, hobbies, and entertainment as well. This weekly schedule may not solve all of your problems, but it will make you more aware of how you spend your time. Furthermore, it will enable you to plan your activities so that you have adequate time for both work and play.

Find a good place to study. Choose one place for your study area. It may be a desk or a chair at home or in the school library, but it should be comfortable, and it should not have distractions. When you begin to work, you should be able to concentrate on the subject.

Skim before you read. This means looking over a passage quickly before you begin to read it more carefully. As you preview the material, you get some idea of the content and how it is organized. Later when you begin to read you will recognize less important material and you may skip some of these portions. Skimming helps double your reading speed and improves your comprehension as well.

Make good use of your time in class. Listening to what the teacher says in class means less work later. Sit where you can see and hear well. Take notes to help you remember what the teacher says.

Study regularly. Go over your notes as soon as you can after class. Review important points mentioned in class as well as points you remain confused about. Read about these points in your textbook. If you know what the teacher will discuss the next day, skim and read that material too. This will help you understand the next class. If you review your notes and textbook regularly, the material will become more meaningful and you will remember it longer. Regular review leads to improved performance on tests.

Develop a good attitude about tests. The purpose of a test is to show what you have learned about a subject. The world won't end if you don't pass a test, so don't worry excessively about a single test. Tests provide grades, but they also let you know what you need to spend more time studying, and they help make your new knowledge permanent.

There are other techniques that might help you with your studying. Only a few have been mentioned here. You will probably discover many others after you have tried these. Talk with your classmates about their study techniques. Share with them some of the techniques you have found to be helpful. Improving your study habits will improve your grades.

Exercises

1. Answer the following questions

1) Do you think you can improve your grades without having to spend more time studying?
2) Why is it important to plan your time carefully?
3) Do you spend all your free time studying? If not, what other things do you do in your spare time?
4) Where do you usually study in the evening? In your bedroom, in your classroom or in the library? Why?
5) What does skimming mean? Why is it important?
6) How can you make good use of your time in class?
7) Do you think it helpful to take notes while listening to your teacher? Why or why not?
8) Do you think it necessary to write down everything that the teacher says? What kind of information do you write down?
9) What should you do after class? Why is it important to review our lessons regularly?
10) What is the purpose of a test?

11) Which of the six suggestions in the text do you find the most helpful to you? Give your reasons.

12) Have you any other suggestions to offer to your classmates?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find single words in the text that mean:

(1) ability to learn and understand

(2) added

(18) pay close attention (to)

2) Word building

(1) The prefix "mis-" can be added to nouns or verbs with the meaning "bad(ly)" or "wrong(ly)".

e.g. misbehavior → bad behavior mispronounce → pronounce wrongly

The prefix "dis-", on the other hand, makes the meaning of a word just the opposite.

e.g. honesty → dishonesty satisfied → dissatisfied like → dislike

Now add the prefixes "mis-" or "dis-" to the following words:

agreement → _______	advantage → ______	appear → _______
approve → _______	behave → ______	comfort → _____ count → ________	contented → ______	continue → _____ close → _______	deed → _______	direct → _______
fortune → _______	guide → ________	hearten → _______
honour → _______	judge → ________	lead → _______
obey → _______	order → ________	print → _______
spelling → _______	translate → ______	understanding → ____

(2) Make up compound nouns by joining words from Column A with words from Column B:

A	B	A	B
type	moon	heart	power
honey	lace	blood	storm
air	sight	motor	boat school	writer	cross	beat neck	speaker	space	cycle
eye	port	super	road
loud	master	life	ship
sun	rise	rain	test

(3) Give as many compound words as you can of the following words:

Model: water → watermark waterfall watermelon waterproof waterpower watercolor ball → football volleyball basketball handball baseball meatball

① hand → handcart ______ ______ ______ ______ ______
② house → housewife ______ ______ ______ ______ ______
③ work → workroom ______ ______ ______ ______ ______
④ book → bookstore ______ ______ ______ ______ ______
⑤ side → lakeside ______ ______ ______ ______ ______
⑥ room → bedroom ______ ______ ______ ______ ______

3) Fill in the blanks with the words or expressions given below. Change the form where necessary.

concentrate on	occupy	solve	enable furthermore	aware	go over	attitude organize	set aside	decide on	later fill in	lead to

(1) This new technique will ______ them to double their production.

Unit 6 Time and the Calendar

Our clocks are made to read solar time. But solar time changes from place to place on the earth. When it is noon at one place, it will still be a few moments before noon a little way to the west. If every town were to set its clocks by the sun, you would have to reset your watch each time you went from one town to another (unless they happened to be on the same north-south line across the earth).

To simplify matters, the world is divided into 24 time zones. Within each time zone all places set their clocks together. In the next time zone to the west, clocks are set one hour earlier. The lines between time zones, in general, follow meridian lines spaced 15 degrees apart.

There is one possible confusion. Suppose you leave your home at noon, when the sun is directly overhead, and travel west at the same speed as the earth's rotation. An hour later you would be 15″ to the west in the next time zone, and it would still be noon. You could travel all the way around the earth, always keeping your watch set at noon. But when you got back home, it would be noon of the next day! Obviously, at some point in your trip around the world you would have to set your calendar ahead one day. This point is the International Date Line. On the east side of the International Date Line it is always one day earlier than it is on the west side.

The year is the unit of time in which the earth makes one trip around the sun. However, there is no reason why the earth should rotate an exact number of days during the year. In fact, the length of the year is 365 days, 5 hours, and 49 minutes, nearly 365 and a quarter days. Thus, from the start we have no hope of making a calendar that divides the year into an exact number of days. If we make the year 365 days long, the earth will not quite get back to the same position at the end of each year. The seasons will gradually occur later and later in the calendar year. To prevent this, an extra day, February 29, was added once every four years. Years having this extra day are called leap years. This is just the same as adding a quarter day each year. The calendar now nearly keeps in step with the season, although there is still an error of 26 seconds per year. To eliminate this error, three out of every four years ending in 00 are not made leap years. Thus 1700, 1800 and 1900 were not leap years, but 2000 was a leap year.

Various calendar revisions have been proposed to make weeks, months, and years fit together more regularly. However, the introduction of a universal calendar involves so many social, economical and even political complexities that it has a rather grim prospect.

Throughout the world, there is only one country that uses its unique calendar system – the DPRK. It has Juche calendar system in which the year 1912 when the great leader Generalissimo Kim Il Sung was born is the first year of the Juche calendar system. This unique calendar system was proposed by the great leader Marshal Kim Jong Il, the loyal heir to the revolutionary cause of the great leader Generalissimo Kim Il Sung.

Exercises

1. Answer the questions

"Juche Calendar System"

Unit 7 The Young and the Old

Someone said to a man, “Travel and see the world.” He answered, “Why should I? People are the same everywhere. They are born. They are babies. They are children. They are adults. They grow old. They die. While they are alive, they have the same emotions. They feel love and hate, happiness and sadness, security and fear, pride and shame, comfort and discomfort. That is why I do not want to travel. I can learn everything here. I’m going to stay home.”

The man was right. He was also wrong. People are the same, but people are also different. They all have the same pattern of life – birth, youth, old age, death. But these stages of life have different values in different cultures. Also, while all people have the same emotions, the causes of these emotions are different. A situation that may bring happiness in one place may not bring happiness in another place.

For example, in many countries old age is a happy time. Young people in these countries show respect to the old people. Young people listen when old people speak because they believe that an old person is a wise person. In that kind of society old people receive honor, privilege and satisfaction. In our country, old people are honored and respected. When they are too old to live alone, they live with a son, daughter, or other relatives. When they become sixty years old, it is a very happy and important event. There is a big party with many guests. They receive many gifts. This birthday even has a special name. All other birthdays are called saeng il (born day). The sixtieth birthday is called huwan gap (beginning of new life). The sixtieth birthday has a special name because when people reach this time in life, the attitudes of their family and their community change toward them. The younger people call them “grandfather” or “grandmother,” even if they are not related to them. Their position in life is good because they receive honors and respect. Everyone looks forward to this time.

In North America, it is quite different for old people. Most old people do not live with their children or relatives. If they have enough money, they buy houses or apartments in places where other old people live. If they are not healthy and strong enough to live alone, they live in special homes for old people. There, strangers take care of them. For many North Americans, old age is not a happy time. Most North Americans want to stay young. They try to stay thin and they act like young people as long as possible. They even try to speak the language of the young. They do not like to grow old because they will not get honor or respect or attention. Also, businesses do not want old people to work for them. So, old people usually live alone and they do not have many things to do. Old age can be a sad and lonely time for them.

So we can see that the man who stayed home was wrong. People are different in their customs and their values. There are young people and there are old people in our country and in North America, but it may be better to be old in our country than in North America.

Thanks to the warm care of the great leader Marshal Kim Jong Il, the old people in our country enjoy a happy life singing that sixty is the prime of life and ninety is the first step to old age.

Exercises

1. Answer the questions

1) Does the man who is quoted at the beginning of the passage want to travel? Why or why not?
2) Does the author agree with him?
3) Then, according to the author, are all people the same, or are they different?
4) In what country is old age a happy time?
5) What birthday is considered a very important event in that country?
6) Is old age a happy time for many North Americans?
7) Do most of them live with their children or relatives?
8) What is the author's concluding remark?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find out single words from the text that mean:

(1) a mature, fully developed person

(2) a feeling such as happiness, love, fear, anger or hatred

"My Grandparents"

Unit 8 The Brain–the Most Powerful Computer in the Universe

Man still has a lot to learn about the most powerful and complex part of his body – the brain. In ancient times men did not think that the brain was the centre of mental activity. Aristotle the philosopher of ancient Greece thought that the mind was based in the heart. It was not until the 18th century that man realized that the whole of the brain was involved in the workings of the mind.

During the 19th century scientists found that when certain parts of the brain were damaged men lost the ability to do certain things. And so, people thought that each part of the brain controlled a different activity. But modern research has found that this is not so. It is not easy to say exactly what each part of the brain does.

In the past 50 years there has been a great increase in the amount of research being done on the brain. Chemists and biologists have found that the way the brain works is far more complicated than they had thought. In fact many people believe that we are only now really starting to learn the truth about how the human brain works. The more scientists find out, the more questions they are unable to answer. For instance, chemists have found that over 100 000 chemical reactions take place in the brain every second.

Mathematicians who have tried to use computers to copy the way the brain works have found that even using the latest electronic equipment they would have to build a computer which weighed over 10 000km. Some recent research also suggests that we remember everything that happens to us. We may not be able to recall this information, but it is all stored in our brains.

Scientists hope that if we can discover how the brain works, the better use we will be able to put it to. For example, how do we learn language? Man differs most from all the other animals in his ability to learn and use language but we still do not know exactly how this is done. Some children learn to speak and read and write when they are very young compared to average children. But scientists are not sure why this happens.

Earlier scientists thought that during a man’s lifetime the power of his brain decreased. But it is now thought that this is not so. As long as the brain is given plenty of exercise it keeps its power. It has been found that an old person who has always been mentally active has a quicker mind than a young person who has done only physical work. It is now thought that the more work we give our brains, the more work they are able to do.

Other people now believe that we use only 1% of our brains' full potential. They say that the only limit on the power of the brain is the limit of what we think is possible. This is probably because of way we are taught as children.

This century man has made many discoveries about the universe – the world outside himself. But he has also started to look into the workings of that other universe which is inside himself – the human brain.

Exercises

1. Answer the following questions

1) Who was Aristotle?
2) What did he think about the mind?
3) When did man finally come to realize that Aristotle was wrong on this point?
4) What led people to think that each part of the brain controlled a different activity? Is it still believed to be true?
5) Why is the brain thought to be the most powerful computer in the universe?
6) Is research on the brain already at an advanced stage? What makes you think so?
7) Why are some scientists interested in the language learning process?
8) In what way can we make our brain more active?
9) Does the power of the brain decrease as one gets old according to the author? How does he prove this?
10) Do we know at present how our brain accepts and organizes information?

2. Vocabulary exercises

1) Find single words in the text that mean:

(1) difficult to understand or explain
(2) in or of times long ago
(3) cause to become connected or concerned

"Can a Computer Think?"

Unit 9 A Black Boy

One jobless morning I went to my old classmate, Griggs, who worked for a Capitol Street jeweller. He was washing the windows of the store when I came up to him.

"Do you know where I can find a job?" I asked.

He looked at me with scorn.

"Yes, I know where you can find a job," he said, laughing.

"Where?"

"But I wonder if you can hold it down," he said.

"What do you mean?" I asked. "Where's the job?"

"Take your time," he said. "Dick, you've been trying to keep a job all summer, and you can't. Why? Because you're impatient. That's your big fault."

"Well," I said, eagerly encouraging him to continue.

He grew serious. "There's an optical company upstairs, and the boss is a northerner from Illinois. He wants a boy to work all day in summer, mornings and evenings in winter. He wants to start a colored boy in the optical trade. You know algebra, and you'd be good at this. I'll tell Mr Crane about you and get in touch with you."

"Do you suppose I could see him now?" I asked.

"For god's sake, take your time!" he thundered at me.

"Maybe that's what's wrong with Negroes," I said. "They take too much time. I don't want a job of sweeping floors. I plan to make something of myself!"

I thanked him and left. After a week I gave up hope. Then one afternoon Griggs came to my house.

"It looks as if you've got a job," he said. "You're going to have a chance to learn a trade. But remember to keep your head. Remember you're black; you're working for Whites. You start tomorrow."

"What will I get?"

"Five dollars a week to start with; they'll raise you if they like you," he explained.

My hopes grew. I would have a chance to learn a trade. And I need not give up school. I told him I would take the job, that I would be humble and respectful to Whites. “You’ll be working for a White Man Mr Crane, and you’ll have to try really hard to get along,” he said.

The next morning I was outside the office of the optical company long before it opened. I was reminding myself that I must be polite, must think before I spoke, must think before I acted, must say “yes, sir or no, sir,” that I must behave myself so that White people wouldn’t think that I thought I was so good as they. Suddenly a white man came up to me.

“What do you want?” he asked me.

“I’m reporting for a job, sir,” I said.

“OK. Come on.”

I followed him up a flight of steps and he unlocked the door of the office. I was a little nervous, but the young White man’s manner put me at ease, and I sat and held my hat in my hand. A White girl came in and began punching the typewriter. Soon another White man, thin and gray, entered and went into the back room. Finally, a tall, red-faced White man arrived, shot me a quick glance, and sat down at his desk. His brisk manner told me he must be Mr Crane.

“You’re the new boy, eh?”

“Yes, sir.”

“Let me get my mail out of the way, and I’ll talk with you,” he said.

Half an hour later Mr Crane called me to his desk and questioned me closely about my schooling, about how much mathematics I had had. He seemed pleased when I told him that I had had two years of algebra.

“How would you like to learn this trade?” he asked.

“I’d like it fine, sir. I’d like nothing better.” I said.

He told me that he wanted to train a Negro boy in the optical trade; he wanted to help him. I tried to answer in a way that would let him know that I would try to be worthy of what he was doing. This was the chance I’d been waiting for – a chance to learn a trade and make something of myself. After introducing me to the other people in the firm, Mr Crane said, “Now, boy, let’s see how clean you can get this place ...”

I began to work in the optical trade as a cleaner, but a few months later I was fired again.

Reminiscences of the Great Leader Generalissimo Kim Il Sung

(Extract)

6. My Mother

I entered Badaogou at dusk. Having felt uneasy throughout the long journey, I became more strained the moment I reached my house.

But my mother was calmer and more composed than I had expected. She hugged me in delight and said, "You've made the 250-mile journey all by yourself. I've never done that, but you've played the man!"

I told her briefly about affairs in Mangyongdae and asked about my father. She said in a low voice that he was well.

From her look I guessed that my father had passed the crisis but was still in danger. She was clearly being very cautious about being overheard or watched.

I gave my younger brothers some biscuits I had bought from the money I had saved from what I had received in Mangyongdae, and settled down for the night to swap experiences.

After supper, however, mother unexpectedly told me to leave at once because the family was under strict surveillance by the enemy. She did not tell me where my father was; she just said that he had escaped, and that I must go. Though normally tender and gracious, on that evening she gave no thought to my will or intention. She ordered me to set out immediately, even though I had travelled hundreds of miles on foot in the coldest season and she had not seen me for two years; she was not allowing me to stay with her even for a night. I was struck dumb with amazement. When she told me to take my brothers with me, I asked her what she was going to do with herself.

"I am waiting for your uncle to return from Sinpha. On his arrival here I will dispose of our household articles and wind up our affairs here. But you must leave quickly."

She cautioned me to slip out quietly and go to Ro Gyong Du's house in Linjiang. Then she requested a sleigh from Taskmaster Song.

He complied willingly with her request. His real name was Song Pyong Chol, but the people in Badaogou used to call him Taskmaster Song because he always behaved like a taskmaster.

With his help we left Badaogou by sleigh for Linjiang.

All my life as a revolutionary I have met and bid farewell to many people, but that was a particularly memorable experience.

As I set out on a journey again as soon as I had met my mother after a fortnight's long travel from Mangyongdae, I thought a lot about her.

My mother was of a gentle character. My father was stout-hearted and strict as a revolutionary, so I received a warmer love from my mother.

Being tender-hearted, she had bitterly regretted our parting when I left for Korea to study two years before.

Although she had done nothing to stop me leaving her, being in the presence of such a strong husband who, as my grandmother in Mangyongdae had said, was harder-hearted than a tiger, I saw tears gathering in her eyes.

She was a woman with such a kind heart as to accord a warm welcome to a stranger of my age of thirteen if she knew that he needed shelter after a journey.

One spring day a boy with serious boils on his left leg and neck had come on his uncle's back to my house from Huchang, Korea. He was living with his uncle because his parents had divorced.

After examining the patient my father told my mother that if the boy underwent an operation on his leg he would be unable to walk for some time, so he should stay at our house during his treatment. She gladly agreed. Once every day after the operation my mother helped my father to mix honey, wheat flour and soda and apply it to the boils. As she dressed the dirty wounds, she never frowned.

Thanks to her kind care, the boy recovered.

His uncle, when he came to fetch him, offered a one-yuan note to my father, saying, "The medical fee would normally amount to hundreds of yuan, but please accept this as a token of the thanks of a poor family. I hope you will buy some wine with it ..."

Hearing this, my mother said, "Please don't bother about the medical fee. It is unreasonable to take it from a poor man. I am sorry I haven't fed the boy as I should."

But the man insisted on paying. If he had been rich it would have been a different matter. But he was a poor man who had earned the money by gathering fallen pine-needles from the mountain and selling them. So my parents were embarrassed.

My father said to my mother that if he refused to take the money it would be a rejection of the man's gratitude, so she said that they should accept his thanks. So she went to the market with the money and bought five yards of cotton cloth and gave it to the boy saying that he should have some new clothes made with it for the forthcoming Tano festival. At that time one yard of cotton cloth cost 35 fen. So, she added 75 fen of her own to the one yuan to buy cloth for the boy.

Poor as she was, she was not mean.

She used to say, "A man dies not because he hasn't money but because he is mortal. Money changes hands."

That was her philosophy.

"About the Strong Character of Mother Kang Pan Sok, an Outstanding Leader of the Korean Women's Movement"

Unit 11 "LET US EXALT THE BRILLIANCE OF COMRADE KIM IL SUNG'S IDEA ON THE YOUTH MOVEMENT AND THE ACHIEVEMENTS MADE UNDER HIS LEADERSHIP"

An Immortal Classic Work of the Great Leader Marshal Kim Jong Il

(Extract)

All our young men and women should fully prepare themselves to be the Party's young vanguard and successors to the revolution who carry forward the revolutionary cause of Juche. Moreover, as befitting a generation waging revolution and struggle, they should learn more, work more zealously and strive with redoubled effort. They should live out their youth in a worthwhile manner and with honour.

Young people should become the faithful, filial sons and daughters of the Party and the leader.

Unconditional faithfulness to the Party and the leader is a basic trait our young people should acquire.

Comrade Kim Il Sung is the eternal leader of our Party, our people and our revolution, a sun of mankind the people across the world revere. His cause, the revolutionary cause of Juche, is the sacred cause he pioneered and led to victory, the most just cause of the revolution that blazes a trail for the consummation of the popular masses' cause of independence. His revolutionary idea is the eternal guiding ideology of our Party and revolution and the revolutionary banner of our era. His revolutionary achievements are the eternal cornerstone of our revolution, the common revolutionary wealth of mankind.

Revering the great leader Comrade Kim Il Sung eternally and inheriting his cause loyally is the revolutionary duty of our young people, their highest form of moral obligation and their greatest honour and pride.

All our young men and women should become communist revolutionaries of a Juche type who are equipped with his revolutionary idea, the Juche idea, and have the Juche-oriented revolutionary outlook on the world. Our young people of today and all the youth of future generations should revere him as the great leader and great father, defend his idea and achievements and champion his cause with singleminded faithfulness and filial piety.

Safeguarding our Party and following its leadership with loyalty is a fundamental guarantee for inheriting and consummating with success Comrade Kim Il Sung's cause, the revolutionary cause of Juche.

Our Party's leadership is the lifeline of our youth movement and young people. Only under its leadership can the youth movement advance in a straight line along the road of Juche, fulfil its mission and role and carve out the destiny and future of the young people with honour.

With the thoroughgoing conviction that they know only our Party and none other, all our young men and women must believe in and follow our Party, entrust their destiny and future to it, follow the road it indicates and unite with it as one. The ranks of our youth should become our Party's militant spearhead, defending it in the van and carrying out its ideas and policies while rallied firmly around it.

1. We Need Forests

The tropical forests of the world are disappearing rapidly. The area of forest cut down each year is almost as large as that of Hokkaido.

Tropical forests live on the rich topsoil made of centuries of fallen leaves and trees. When the forests are cut down, rain takes away the topsoil. Nothing can grown on the poor soil under the topsoil.

Some people say that even the Amazon's vast rain forests will have disappeared by the end of this century.

Clearing land for farming is the main cause of forest loss today. Farmers clear a small area of forest by cutting and burning the trees. In consequence, the topsoil is gone in two or three years, so they move to another area and cut down more forest. Two hundred million people live this way.

Forests are also cut down for paper and building material. Half of the lumber produced in Southeast Asia goes to advanced countries. It is doubtful whether the forests in Southeast Asia will continue to exist any longer than those of the Amazon.

When a tropical forest is destroyed, the area becomes a desert. Deserts now cover one-third of the world. But do you know the fact that they are increasing rapidly, partly because of the disappearance of trees?

Many species of plants and animals living in tropical forests are in danger of extinction. There are millions of species in tropical forests, and some of these live in only one part of one forest. So when even one small area is destroyed, an entire species can die out.

How can we save our forests? Not wasting paper and wood is one way. Another way is planting young trees. What else can we do?

2. Computers

When the steam engine was invented in the eighteenth century, it began one of the greatest revolutions that ever took place in our world. The invention of the gas engine at the end of the nineteenth century led to another enormous change in our lives. And it is almost certain that the invention of the computer is going to be as important as these engines.

Just as there was a Stone Age, an Iron Age, and so on, we have been living for centuries in a Paper Age. During this age, almost all information was kept and sent on paper.

But now, with the computer, enormous amounts of information can be stored and sent without any paper at all, by means of small discs or magnetic tape.

The earliest computers were very big machines, because information had to be stored on large spools of tape. But now we have ways of storing more and more information in smaller and smaller spaces, and an up-to-date computer can be so small that we can carry it in our briefcase.

Computers have made it possible to do very difficult calculations much faster than any earlier instrument could.

If there were no computers today, how much time would be consumed for a complicated calculation in modern science and technology?

We have to program our computer correctly, feeding the facts into it, and telling it what to do with them. This job is rather time-consuming. But after that, the process can be very fast.

The program, which tells the computer what to do, is called software. Great progress is being made not only in the hardware – the machines themselves – but also in the art of programming. Clever people are finding more and more things for computers to do. But the people who produce the programs still have to be as clever as – or cleverer than – the programs they produce.

3. A New Powerful Light Microscope

Electron microscopes enable you to look at the genes of plants and animals. But now we have a new instrument that performs the same function without doing harm to the organism under observation.

A new light microscope developed by a team of scientists at IBM can “see” objects even smaller than genes, says Kumar Wicramasinghe, the team’s leader.

The new microscope is about 500 times more powerful than ordinary light microscopes like the ones you use at school. It works by shooting a laser beam (a narrow, focused beam of light) onto a “needle tip.”

The needle moves up and down beneath the specimen about 200 000 times per second. Another instrument measures how the laser light interacts with the light reflected by the sample. Recordings of these interactions can reveal objects as small as the needle tip – just five atoms across.

That may not sound so great if you know that some electron microscopes – which use a stream of electrons instead of light – allow scientists to see objects the size of single atoms. But the images from the new microscope are more useful, Wickramasinghe says. One reason is that they are in color – which allows scientists to easily identify what they are seeing. Also, since light is not harmful, scientists can use the new microscope to observe living things – like the genes inside a living cell.

In the future, scientists might also use the new microscope to quickly scan tiny bits of data off penny-size compact disks.

4. A Star Is Born

There have been theories of how stars came into being, but now scientists have actually seen the birth of a new star.

For the first time ever, scientists have taken pictures of a baby star, or protostar, developing in the Milky Way. These pictures confirm the scientists' theory of how a star is born and matures.

Scientists had believed that new stars are formed inside clouds of gas and dust, explains Thomas Kuiper, an astrophysicist. Gravity, the force that attracts objects to one another, pulls some of the gas and dust particles together into a compact ball, the protostar.

Until now, scientists had found the clouds around the star so thick that they couldn't see inside. But two groups of scientists took pictures of this new star, using radio telescopes. These telescopes gather and focus radio waves, a type of energy emitted from some objects in space, using large antennas.

As the scientists had predicted, the images show gas and dust collapsing into this baby star, which is now 150 000 years old. (That's young for a star, which can "live" for billions of years.)

"Now we have some real evidence of confirming our theory of star creation," Kuiper says.

Scientists will continue to watch the new star as it matures and becomes hotter and more compact. Kuiper predicts that the rest of the gas cloud will either collapse into the star or blow away. Then, in a few million years, hydrogen atoms inside this star will start to fuse (combine) and give off light energy. When that happens the star will begin to glow.

5. Switches and Fuses

An electric switch is often on a wall near the door of a room. Two wires lead to the lamp in the room. The switch is fixed in one of them. The switch can cause a break in this wire, and then the light goes out.

The switch can also join the two parts of the wire again; then we get a light.

Switches can control many different things. Small switches control lamps and radio sets because these do not take a large current. Larger switches control electric fires. Other switches can control electric motors.

Good switches move quickly. They have to stop the current suddenly. If they move slowly, an electric spark appears. It jumps across the space between the two ends of the wire. This is unsafe and it heats the switch. Very big switches are sometimes placed in oil. Sparks do not easily jump through oil, and so the oil makes the switch safer.

A large current makes a wire hot. If the wire is very thin, even a small current makes it hot. This happens in an electric lamp.

The electric wires in a house are covered with some kind of insulation. No current can flow through the insulation; so the current can never flow straight from one wire to the other. But the insulation on old wires is often broken; then the copper of the two wires can touch. A large current may flow; and if this happens, the wires will get very hot. Then the house may catch fire.

Fuses can stop this trouble. A fuse is only a thin wire which easily melts. It is fixed in a fuse-holder. The fuse-holder is made of some material which cannot burn. A large current makes the fuse hot and then it melts away. We say the fuse “blows”. The wire is broken, and no current can flow. So the house does not catch fire; but all the lights and electric fires go out because there is no current.

When a fuse blows, something is wrong. We must find the fault first. Perhaps two wires are touching. We must cover them with new insulation of some kind. Then we must find the blown fuse and repair it. We put a new piece of fuse-wire in the holder. (Sometimes we can find the right fuse-holder because it is rather warm: but the others are cold.) If we do not repair the fault first, the new fuse will blow immediately.

Some people get angry when a fuse blows. So they put a thick copper wire in the fuse-holder. Of course this does not easily melt; if the current rises suddenly, nothing stops it. The thick wire easily carries it. Then the wires of the house may get very hot, and the house may catch fire. Some of the people in it may not be able to escape. They may lose their lives. So it is always best to use proper fuse-wire. This will keep everyone and everything in the house safe.

6. Life in the Future

Throughout the world, computers will be used more and more in the future. They are already being used in agriculture and industry. For example, many farms now use computers to control the growing conditions of vegetables and other plants.

In glasshouses, computers control the watering of the plants as well as the light and the temperature.

In their personal lives people will also use computer more and more.

Houses will be controlled by a central computer. Lights will go off if no one is in the room. The idea that computers can recognize human voices surprise many people. You will be able to telephone home half an hour before returning and, by speaking into the telephone, you will be able to tell the computer to turn on the heating and the hot water.

The computer will recognize your voice and carry out the instructions.

The possibility that the majority of the labour force will work at home is often discussed. It will be much more convenient than spending a lot of time traveling to work every day. People will be able to use the videophone for conferences. They will be able to do drawings and send them by mail or by fax.

Computers will be used more and more in transport. Railways already use them to work out the best distance between trains. Trains will be operated by computer and many of them will have no drivers.

Space travel will become much cheaper. In 1993 a new space rocket with no wings was developed.

This type of rocket is able to return to the earth and land on its legs.

As a result, costs will be reduced by as much as 90%.

In the fields of education, health and research, computers will continue to play an important part.

It will be part of everyone's education to learn computer skills. Information records, for example of patients with the same illness, are now kept on computer. It is possible to have a group of these records collected and printed. Computer programs for storing whole texts are already well developed. You can type the name of a subject, e.g. "Printing" and the computer will give you a worldwide list of magazine and book titles. The next step is to search the titles for more information. Finally you can choose certain texts and read them on your computer screen. If you want a copy of the article or page, it can be printed out and sent to you.

7. First Impression

The children stopped chattering as Miss Rios entered the classroom. Then in a loud chorus, they said, "Good morning, teacher."

Miss Rios smiled, said good morning and glanced quickly around the room. There seemed to be about thirty-five in the class – perhaps a few more girls than boys. All of the children were watching her intently, waiting no doubt to find out what sort of person she was. "I suppose you want to know my name," she said.

But before she could tell them, someone in the class called out, "You're Miss Rios." Everybody laughed. Miss Rios laughed too.

"News travels fast," she said. "I'm afraid it will take me longer to learn all your names."

Miss Rios opened her attendance book and called their names one by one. When she came to the last name on the list, John Young, she noticed that he had been absent for over a month.

"What's the matter with John Young?" she asked, looking up.

"He's in the hospital, Miss Rios," said a dark haired girl in the front row. "He broke his leg."

"He was ice-skating," added one of the boys.

"Has anyone been to the hospital to see him?" Miss Rios asked.

No one replied.

It was time to get started. "Now let me see," said Miss Rios, looking at her class schedule. “The first subject is English.”

“Oh! Please read us a story,” begged one of the girls.

Several of the children echoed this request. Miss Rios smiled.

“All right,” she said. “But first of all, I want you to write a short letter to John Young. We’ll send the letters to him in the hospital to cheer up. Afterwards, I’ll read you a story.”

They were all writing and drawing busily when Miss Rios slipped out of the room to get a book she had left in the teacher’s lounge. She passed the Principal in the hall.

“Any problems with that class?” the Principal asked.

“Not so far,” said Miss Rios confidently. “They all seem very well behaved.”

8. Child Labour

Charles Brown was not yet twelve years old. He knew that all was not well with the affairs of the family, and he was very unhappy. His father, Mr Brown was heavily in debt and didn’t know which way to turn for money.

Charles had expected to be sent to school. More than anything else in the world he wanted to learn. The worst news of all was that he could not go to school.

The affairs of the family went from bad to worse. Poor Charles, often hungry, had to go to a pawnshop, first with a chair and then with one piece of furniture after another until the house was almost empty.

One day his father was arrested for nonpayment of a debt of £10. He was carried off to the debtors’ prison.

Now the little boy had to earn bread for the family. He had got a job in the underground cellar at a blacking factory in the East End of London.

It was the manager of the shoe blacking ware house who came with this proposal.

"He can earn three shillings a week."

"It will be a great help to us," said Mrs Brown, quite satisfied.

For Charles it meant never to go to school. In his young heart there still burned a flame of hope, the hope that some day somehow, somewhere, he would be sent to school. Now the dream was over.

His task at the warehouse was to put labels on countless bottle of blacking. He worked twelve hours a day. In the morning and at midday he either ate a piece of bread that he had brought or wandered out into the street to buy a penny loaf. At supper time he had bread and cheese in his room.

Sunday was the best day for Charles. He could enjoy reading books at home. He had a pile of books in the attic.

"What a reader my boy is!" his mother used to say proudly.

But this little piece of luck was not to last. He had to sell those books for want of money. His mother and younger sisters were hungry and so the books had to go to the pawnshop.

Charles thought that life could not possibly become blacker, but it did.

"No words," he wrote in his diary "can express the secret agony of my soul as I sank into such miserable condition."

9. A Bike That Changes Gears by Itself

Have you ever shifted your bike into the wrong gear in the middle of climbing a hill and found it impossible to pedal?

Now Ezra Gold and his fellow engineering students at the University of Rochester have come up with a solution. “We created the smart bike, a bike that changes gears by itself,” Gold says. The smart bike is designed to keep you in the right gear so your legs can ride on and on.

Bicycles, explains Gold, are compound machines, made up of many simple machines, such as levers and wheels and axles. Like all machines, says Gold, “different gears on your bike increase or decrease the amount of force, or push, you need to apply” to do work – move an object (e.g. a bike) over a distance.

Usually bikers have to change gears by themselves – shifting to lower gears for uphill climbs, and higher gears for flat ground. But sometimes they forget to shift – or they wait too long. Consequently the bike chain will produce a jarring clanking sound and your leg muscles grow tired.

To make changing gears an easy job, “we programmed a computer chip in the smart bike to measure a bike’s pedaling and wheel speeds,” says Gold. “The chip uses these measurements to calculate how tightly stretched your bike chain is.” The tighter the chain, the more force you need to pedal.

To program the bike, you decide how fast you want to pedal. (It’s best to cycle at a constant pedal speed of about 90 revolutions per minute, Gold says). “The six-speed bike took about a year to make,” says Gold, “and we’re still making improvements.” But the team of engineers says you may find their smart bike in a local cycle shop in the future.

10. Smog-Eating Cars

By the time our children are going down the road in their first car, driving might actually destroy air pollution. That's because a company has invented a device designed to transform cars into pollutant eaters.

The new device is a type of catalytic converter, an apparatus that starts, or catalyzes, chemical reactions to break down air pollutants.

Today's cars are already built with a kind of catalytic converter. When exhaust flows through this converter "box", a catalyst chemical inside breaks down the car's pollutants into less harmful chemicals. But some pollutants still escape into the air to form smog, which can burn your eyes, nose, and throat, and make breathing painful.

The new converter – a coating of catalyst chemicals on the car's radiator – will help clean up the smog. As smoggy air from outside the car flows over the radiator, the catalyst turns the smog into oxygen.

"We still have questions about the new converters," says Jeff Alson of the Environmental protection Agency. "For example, we need to know how well they will work as the cars age," he says.

To answer these questions, the Engelhard Corporation, which developed the new converter, had engineering students drive test cars around the city with the worst air pollution. So far, says inventor Terry Poles, the new converters appear to break down 80 percent of the smog in the air surrounding the cars.

Engelhard engineers hope the new converters will be eating air pollution around the country in near future – just in time for our children to start choosing their first car!

Grammar Summary

3조건문(가정법 과거완료) (Third Conditional)

과거의 사실과 반대되게 가정하여 말하고싶을 때 3조건문을 쓴다.

If we had lived 85 million years ago, we would have seen dinosaurs.
(8천 5백만년전에 살았었더라면 우리는 공룡을 보았을텐데.)

형식에 류의하시오.

《If … + 과거완료, would + 현재완료》

If I had seen you in town, I would have said hello.
(시내에서 너를 만났었더라면 인사를 했을걸.)

If you had come to a dancing party, you would have enjoyed yourself.
(동무가 무도회에 참가했었더라면 잘 놀았을텐데.)

wish가 들어가는 문장

wish 다음에 오는 동사의 형태에 주의하시오.

《wish … + 과거시칭》으로 쓰면 현재와 반대되는 소원을 나타낸다.

I wish I had a new bicycle. (새 자전거가 있으면 좋겠는데.)

Ivan wishes he lived in a warm country. (이완은 더운 나라에서 살았으면 한다.)

I wish I was strong! (힘이 세면 좋겠는데.)

주의: 'I wish I was ...' 대신에 'I wish I were ...'를 흔히 쓴다.

I wish I were younger. (더 젊었으면 좋겠는데.)

짧은 질문과 긴 질문 (Short and Long Questions)

일반적으로 긴 질문이 짧은 질문보다 더 겸손한 말로 된다.

'Do you know what time it is?'는 'What time is it?'보다 더 겸손하게 들린다.

긴 질문의 구조가 어떻게 변하는가에 주의하시오.

What time is it? — Do you know what time it is?

이것은 'Do you know'가 질문의 첫 부분에 있기때문에 '… what time is it'가 아니라 '… what time it is'로 된다. 아래에 몇개의 다른 실례들이 있다.

Where do you live? — Can you tell me where you live?

Where is Fred? — Have you any idea where Fred is?

How much did your radio cost? — Do you know how much your radio cost?

간접의문문 (Reported Questions)

어떤 질문을 간접의문문으로 옮기기 위하여 그것을 서술문으로 바꾸어야 한다. 동사의 시칭과 인칭대명사가 바꾸어지는데 주의하시오.

Where do you live? — She wanted to know where I lived.

Where is Fred? — He asked where Fred was.

How much did your radio cost? — He wanted to know how much my radio cost.

현재완료지속시칭과 현재완료시칭의 대비(Comparison of Present Perfect Continuous with Present Perfect)

현재완료지속시칭은 과거의 어느 순간부터 현재까지 행동이나 상태가 계속된다는것을 나타낸다. 이때 흔히 과거로부터 현재까지의 기간을 나타내는 시간상황어와 함께 쓰인다.

I have been working here for 8 years. (나는 여기서 8년동안 일하고 있다.)

He has been reading the novel since last Sunday. (그는 그 소설을 지난 일요일부터 읽고있다.)

현재완료시칭은 동작이 완료되여 현재 계속되지 않는 행동을 나타내며 현재완료지속시칭은 행동의 결과나 완료가 아니라 행동 그자체에 중심을 두기때문에 행동의 계속을 나타낸다.

① I have studied English for 6 years. (나는 영어를 6년동안 공부했다.)

② I have been studying English for 6 years. (나는 지금까지 영어를 6년동안 공부하고있다.)

①은 과거 어느 때에 행동이 끝났으나 그 결과 영어를 안다는 뜻을 나타내며 ②는 현재까지 계속되는 행동을 나타낸다. 다음의 례들을 대비하여보자.

Father has just told me. (결과에 중심) (아버지가 방금 말해주었다.) (그리하여 알고있다는 뜻)

Father has been telling me about it. (행동에 중심) (아버지가 그것에 대해 이야기하군 하였다.)

Have you read the book? (결과에 중심) (그 책을 읽었습니까?) (내용을 알고있는가 하는 뜻)

Have you been reading the book of late? (행동에 중심) (요즘 그 책을 읽고있습니까?)

피동상 (Passive Voice)

피동상은 주어가 행동을 하는것이 아니라 행동을 받는 대상으로 되는 술어동사의 형태이다.

The hunter killed a wolf. (사냥군이 승냥이를 죽였다.)

A wolf was killed by the hunter. (승냥이는 사냥군에 의해 죽었다.)

We built the bridge. (우리는 그 다리를 건설하였다.)

The bridge was built by us. (그 다리는 우리에 의하여 건설되였다.)

피동상은 《동사be + 과거분사》형식으로 많이 쓰이지만 입말체에서는 《동사become(get, grow 등) + 과거분사》형식으로도 쓰인다.

He became known to me at the factory. (나는 그와 공장에서 알게 되였다.)

He soon grew accustomed to it. (그는 곧 그에 익숙해졌다.)

He got hurt while playing football. (그는 축구를 하다가 상했다.)

A lot of Blacks get killed in USA. (미국에서는 수많은 흑인들이 살해당하고있다.)

피동상은 입말보다 글말에서 많이 쓰이며 다음과 같은 경우에 주로 쓰인다.

① 행동수행자(주어)가 명백하지 않는 경우

He was wounded in the battle. (그는 그 전투에서 부상당했다.)

The classroom was cleaned. (교실을 청소하였다, 교실이 청소되였다.)

② 행동수행자(주어)가 막연하게 일반적인 사람을 가리키는 경우

English is spoken in Canada. (카나다에서는 영어로 말한다.)

③ 행동수행자가 문맥상 명백하거나 특별히 밝힐 필요가 없는 경우

His task was carried out. (그의 과업은 수행되였다.)

④ 행동수행자보다 행동을 받는 대상에 더 많은 관심을 두었을 때

He is loved by everyone. (그는 모든 사람의 사랑을 받는다.)

현재완료피동형 (Present Perfect Passive)

피동형과 현재완료형의 쓰임을 참고하시오. 현재완료피동형의 형태에 주의하시오.

《 'be'동사의 현재완료형 + 과거분사》

The window has been broken.

A new tunnel has been built through the mountains.

The river has been cleaned.

자동사와 타동사 (Intransitive Verbs and Transitive Verbs)

동사는 뒤에 보어가 오는가 오지 않는가에 따라 자동사와 타동사로 나눈다.

자동사란 보어를 가지지 않는 동사를 말한다.

The sun rises. (해가 솟아오른다.)

It is raining. (비가 오고있다.)

We study very hard. (우리는 아주 열심히 공부한다.)

It snows in winter. (겨울에는 눈이 온다.)

타동사란 보어를 가지는 동사를 말한다.

I read a book. (나는 책을 읽는다.)

I want to do it. (나는 그것을 하고싶다.)

We know that he did it. (우리는 그가 그 일을 하였다는것을 안다.)

He gave me a book. (그는 나에게 책을 주었다.)

영어동사들은 대부분 자동사, 타동사로 다 쓰이므로 동사가 자동사인가, 타동사인가 하는것을 구체적인 문장속에서만 알수 있다.

Owls can see in the dark. (자동사) (부엉이는 어둠속에서 볼수 있다.)

I see an owl in the tree. (타동사) (나무우에 부엉이가 있는것이 보인다.)

He studies hard. (자동사) (그는 열심히 공부한다.)

He studies physics. (타동사) (그는 물리를 공부한다.)

조동사 (Auxiliary Verbs)

조동사란 자립적으로 쓰이지 못하고 본동사와 함께 쓰이면서 시칭, 상, 법 등을 나타내는 보조적인 역할을 하는 동사를 말한다.

① 조동사 be

조동사 be는 《be + 현재분사》의 형태로 지속시칭에 쓰이며 《be + 과거분사》의 형태로 피동상에 쓰인다.

Many machines are making in this factory. (이 공장에서는 많은 기계들이 만들어지고있다.)

Limestone is used for making vinalon. (석회석은 비날론을 만드는데 쓰인다.)

② 조동사 have

조동사 have는 《have + 과거분사》의 형태로 완료시칭에 쓰이고 《have been + 현재분사》의 형태로 완료지속시칭에 쓰인다.

I have read the book. (그 책을 다 읽었다.)

I have been reading the book since yesterday. (나는 어제부터 그 책을 읽고있다.)

③ 조동사 do

조동사 do는 의문문, 부정문, 어순바뀜에서와 동사를 강조할 때 쓰이며 동사의 반복을 피하기 위하여 동사를 대신하여 쓰이기도 한다.

Do you think it will be fine today? (오늘 날씨가 좋으리라고 생각합니까?)

Didn't you ever see a lion? (사자를 본적이 있습니까?)

He does not know the fact. (그는 그 사실을 모릅니다.)

Do come here! (이리 오라는데!)

He writes faster than I do. (그는 글을 나보다 빨리 쓴다.)

A: I like apples. B: So do I. (나는 사과를 좋아한다. 나도 좋아한다.)

의문문과 부정문에서 조동사 do를 쓰지 않는 경우가 있다.

주어가 의문사이거나 의문사가 주어를 수식하는 경우

Who made it? (누가 그것을 만들었는가?)

Which team won the match? (어느 팀이 경기에서 이겼습니까?)

How many people live in this house? (이 집에서 몇사람이 삽니까?)

Should

① 충고를 한다던가 의견을 줄 때 should를 쓸수 있는데 이때 나타내는 의미는《…을 하는것이 좋다》이다. 즉

You should do something = It is a good thing to do or the right thing to do. 를 의미한다.

You look tired. You should go to bed. (피곤해보이누나. 잠자는게 좋겠다.)

Should we invite Susan to the party? Yes, I think we should. (수잔을 연회에 초청할가요? 예, 그렇게 하는것이 좋겠습니다.)

・ should는 종종 I think / I don't think / Do you think ...? 와 함께 쓰인다.

I think you should study hard. (열심히 공부하는것이 좋겠다.)

I don't think you should go so early. (그렇게 일찍 가지 않아도 좋겠다.)

Do you think I should stay here? Yes, I think you should.
(여기에 머물러도 좋겠니? 응, 그래.)

・ should는 must나 have to 보다 강한 의무성을 나타내지 않는다.

You should apologise. (사죄하는것이 좋겠다.)

You must / have to apologise. (사죄해야 한다.)

② 이전에 하여야 할 일을 하지 못하였을 때 should have done을 써서 《할걸 그랬다》,《했더라면 좋았겠다》는 뜻을 나타낸다. 즉

You should have done something. = You didn't do it, but it would have been the right thing to do.를 의미한다.

You should have come earlier. (동무는 좀 더 일찍 왔어야 할걸 그랬다.)

He should have done with the book yesterday. (그는 그 책을 어제 읽었더라면 좋았겠다.)

③ 이전에 하지 말아야 할것을 하였을 때 shouldn't have done을 써서 《너무 했다》,《안했더라면 좋았겠다》라는 뜻을 나타낸다. 즉

You shouldn't have done something. = You did it, but it was the wrong thing to do.를 의미한다.

I shouldn't have eaten so much. (나는 너무 많이 먹었다.)

You shouldn't have come here. (너는 여기에 오지 않았더라면 좋았겠다.)

련결동사 (Link Verb)

련결동사는 주어와 술사를 련결시켜주며 주어가 어떤 상태에 있다는

추상적인 뜻만을 나타낸다. 련결동사로 쓰이는 전형적인 동사는 be이다.

Jogging is a good exercise for health. (걷기는 건강에 좋은 운동이다.)

The show was very interesting. (그 전시회는 대단히 흥미있었다.)

그러나 상태를 나타내는 일부 자동사들도 련결동사로 쓰일수 있다.

He became a hero. (그는 영웅이 되였다.)

This cloth feels smooth. (이 천은 매끈매끈하다.)

It is getting warmer and warmer. (날씨가 점점 따뜻해진다.)

The sun shone bright. (해가 밝게 비쳤다.)

The bell sounds interesting. (그 종은 재미나게 소리가 난다.)

They made ready. (그들은 준비하였다.)

I grew tired. (나는 점점 피곤해졌다.)

John went hungry. (죤은 늘 배를 곯았다.)

All the leaves turn red and yellow in autumn. (가을에는 모든 잎사귀들이 빨갛고 노랗게 된다.)

They remained faithful to the end. (그들은 끝까지 충실하였다.)

It smells disgusting. (거기서는 역한 냄새가 난다.)

The rumour proved true. (그 소문은 사실이였다.)

He sat silent. (그는 조용히 앉아있었다.)

분사구문 (Participle Construction)

현재분사 또는 과거분사가 상황어로 쓰일 때 그것을 분사구문이라고 한다. 분사구문의 주어는 문장의 주어와 같다.

△ 현재분사가 분사구문으로 쓰이는 경우

① 원인상황어

Knowing he could not come, I telephoned him. (그가 올수 없다는 것을 알기때문에 그에게 전화를 하였다.)

② 시간상황어

Be careful walking across the street. (거리를 건너갈 때 조심하시오.)

③ 부수상황어

He walked along the street, holding a book in his hand. (그는 손에 책을 들고 거리를 따라 걸어갔다.)

④ 조건상황어

⑤ 양보상황어

Why did you go there, feeling it was not right to do so? (거기에 가는것이 옳지 않다는것을 알면서도 왜 갔습니까?)

△ 분사구문이 어떤 상황어로 쓰인다는것을 명백히 하기 위하여 그앞에 해당한 접속사를 쓰기도 한다.

Be careful when crossing the road. (길을 건너갈 때에는 조심하시오.)

He continued to speak while walking down the stairs. (그는 계단을 내려가는 동안 계속 이야기하였다.)

After finishing their homeworks, they played football. (숙제를 다 한 후에 그들은 축구를 하였다.)

He always dropped in if passing by my house. (그는 나의 집을 지나갈 때면 언제나 들리군 하였다.)

△ 분사구문의 행동이 술어동사의 행동보다 먼저 일어났다는것을 나타내기 위하여 완료형분사를 쓴다.

Having finished her work, she went home. (그 녀자는 일을 끝마치고 집으로 갔다.)

Having found a hotel, they had dinner. (호텔을 찾고나서 그들은 저녁식사를 하였다.)

△ 과거분사가 분사구문으로 쓰이는 경우

과거분사가 분사구문으로 쓰일 때에는 현재분사와 달리 피동상의 의미를 가진다.

Asked when they could expect an answer, he said it would take them about a week. (언제 그들이 대답을 받을수 있는가 하는 질문을 받고 그는 한주일가량 걸릴것이라고 말했다.)

Invited to the meeting, they prepared for departure. (회의에 초청받았기때문에 그들은 출발준비를 하였다.)

Suddenly touched, she embraced her mother. (갑자기 감동되여 그 녀자는 어머니를 끌어안았다.)

과거분사가 분사구문으로 쓰이면서 상황어로 쓰일 때 그앞에 접속사가 올수 있다.

He did not usually utter a word unless spoken to. (그는 누가 말을 걸지 않으면 보통 한마디도 하지 않았다.)

Even if posted now, the letter could not reach him till Monday.

(편지를 지금 부친다고 하여도 월요일까지는 그에게 전달되지 못할것이다.)

관계대명사 (Relative Pronouns)

관계대명사는 대명사적기능과 접속사적기능을 동시에 수행하는 대명사이다.

This is the man whom I know. (This is the man and I know him.) (이 사람은 내가 아는 사람이다.)

관계대명사가 이끄는 절에 의하여 규정받는 대상을 선행사(Antecedent)라고 한다. 선행사가 사람이면 who, 동물, 물건이면 which, 사람, 동물, 물건이면 that를 쓴다.

관계대명사에는 제한적쓰임과 서술적쓰임이 있다. 제한적쓰임에서는 선행사의 뜻을 한정지으며 따라서 우리 말로 옮길 때에는 규정어절부터 번역한다.

He is the boy who got the first prize. (그가 1등상을 받은 그 소년이다.)

서술적쓰임은 관계대명사앞에 반점이 오는 경우인데 이때에는 선행사의 뜻에 보충적인 설명을 하는것으로 된다. 따라서 우리 말로 옮길 때에는 쓰인 순서대로 내려 번역한다.

I met a boy, who showed me the way to the station. (나는 한 소년을 만났는데 그는 정거장으로 가는 길을 가리켜주었다.)

① 관계대명사 who who는 선행사가 단수 혹은 복수의 사람을 나타낼 때에 쓰인다.

관계대명사 who의 주격은 who, 보어격은 whom, 소유격은 whose이다.

I want a boy who is honest. (주격) (나는 정직한 소년을 요구한다.)

They are the boys whom I praised. (보어격) (그들은 내가 칭찬한 소년들이다.)

A child whose parents are both heroes entered our school. (소유격) (부모들이 두분 다 영웅인 아이가 우리 학교에 입학하였다.)

② 관계대명사 which which는 주로 선행사가 동물이거나 무생물체를 나타낼 때 쓰인다. 관계대명사 which의 주격과 보어격은 같다.

This is the dog which barked last night. (주격) (이 개가 지난밤에 짖은 개이다.)

This is the book which I bought. (보어격) (이 책은 내가 산 책이다.)

I climbed the mountain whose top(=the top of which) was covered with snow. (소유격) (나는 꼭대기가 눈으로 덮여있는 산으로 올라갔다.)

③ 관계대명사 that

관계대명사 that는 선행사가 사람이나 동물 혹은 기타 무생물체를 나타내는 모든 경우에 쓰이며 주로 제한적용법에 쓰인다. 그러므로 다른 관계대명사를 쓸 때보다 제한적의미가 더 강하다. 따라서 선행사가 최상급의 형용사, 순서수사 또는 all, only, same, very, no 등과 같은 제한적의미를 가진 단어들에 의해 규정되면 반드시 that를 써야 한다. 또한 선행사가 nothing, everything, anything, something, much, little 일 때에도 관계대명사 that를 쓴다.

It is the machine that he made. (그것이 그가 만든 기계이다.)

This is the very thing that I want. (이것이 바로 내가 요구하는것이다.)

No man that has common sense can believe it. (일반상식을 가진 사람치고 그것을 믿을 사람은 없다.)

Everything that I have seen is of great interest. (내가 본 모든것은 대단히 흥미있는것이다.)

관계부사 (Relative Adverbs)

관계부사는 문장에서 부사적기능과 접속사적기능을 동시에 수행하는 부사이다. 관계부사는 의문부사나 접속부사와 형태가 같으나 선행사를 가지는것으로 하여 접속부사와 구별된다. 선행사가 시간을 가리키면 when, 장소를 가리키면 where, 원인, 리유를 가리키면 why, 방법을 가리키면 how를 쓴다.

I don’t know the exact time when the train leaves. (나는 그 기차가 출발하는 정확한 시간을 모른다.)

I know the place where the meeting was held. (나는 그 회의가 열린 장소를 안다.)

This is the reason why he did it so. (이것이 그가 그것을 그렇게 한 리유 이다.)

This is the way how he solved it. (이것이 그가 그것을 푼 방법이다.)

관계부사는 그 쓰임에 따라 제한적쓰임과 서술적쓰임의 두가지가 있다.

관계부사의 제한적쓰임은 규정어절을 이끄는것이다.

This was the time when the movement started. (이때가 운동이 시작되던 때였다.)

This is the house where he often dropped in. (이 집이 그가 자주 들리던 집이다.)

This is the reason why he was absent yesterday. (이것이 그가 어제 결석한 리유이다.)

Show me the way how the machine works. (기계가 어떻게 동작하는가를 나에게 보여주시오.)

관계부사의 서술적쓰임은 《접속사 + 부사》와 같은 뜻을 나타낸다. 관계부사의 서술적쓰임에서는 반점으로 주절과 종속절을 갈라준다. why와 how는 서술적쓰임이 없다.

I shall be back before noon, when we shall send for him. (정오까지는 돌아오겠으니까, 그때 그를 불러오도록 합시다.)

That was the height, where the battle was fought. (저것이 그 고지였는데 거기에서 그 전투가 벌어졌다.)

접속대명사 (Conjunctive Pronouns)

접속대명사란 간접적의문의 뜻을 가지는 명사절을 이끌면서 동시에 접속사의 역할을 수행하는 대명사를 말한다.

① 접속대명사 who

I know who he is. (나는 그가 누구인지 안다.)

Who knows most says least. (많이 아는 사람이 제일 말을 적게 한다.) (속담: 벼이삭은 익을수록 고개를 숙인다.)

② 접속대명사 which

I wonder which is your dictionary. (나는 어느것이 당신의 사전인지 모르겠다.)

Here are three books. Choose which you like best. (책이 3권 있다.

어느것이나 마음에 드는것을 가지시오.)

③ 접속대명사 what

I will ask what he means. (나는 그가 한 말이 무슨 뜻인지 묻겠다.)

They heard what he said. (그들은 그가 말한것을 들었다.)

접속대명사에 '-ever'가 결합하여 강조의 뜻으로 쓰인다.

Whoever comes will be welcome. (오는 사람은 누구든지 환영받을것이다.)

Whoever else objects, I do not. (다른 누가 반대하더라도 나는 반대하지 않는다.)

Please take whichever suits you best. (어느것이든 가장 알맞는것을 가지시오.)

Whichever side wins, I shall be satisfied. (어느쪽이 이기든 만족하다.)

Do whatever you like. (무엇이든지 하고싶은 일을 해라.)

Whatever happens I will go. (어떤 일이 있어도 나는 가겠다.)

접속부사 (Conjunctive Adverbs)

접속부사는 문장에서 접속사적기능과 부사적기능을 동시에 수행하는 부사이다. 접속부사는 의문부사, 관계부사와 형태가 같으며 선행사를 가지지 않는것으로 하여 관계부사와 구별된다. 접속부사는 간접의문문에서 주로 쓰인다.

I asked him where he lived. (나는 그가 어디서 사는가고 물었다.)

I don't know when he will come back. (나는 그가 언제 돌아오겠는지 모른다.)

접속부사앞에 오는 전치사를 생략할수도 있다.

It all depends (on) how you do it. (그것은 전적으로 동무가 그것을 어떻게 하는가에 달려있다.)

I am ignorant (of) why he did it so. (나는 왜 그가 그것을 그렇게 하였는지 모른다.)

접속부사가 이끄는 절을 미정사구로 나타낼수 있다.

I know when to speak and when to be silent. (나는 말해야 할 때와 침묵을 지켜야 할 때를 안다.)

How to do it is not a difficult question. (우리가 어떻게 그것을 해야 하는가는 힘든 문제가 아니다.)

접속부사에 '-ever'가 결합하여 강조의 뜻으로 쓰인다. 이와 같은것은 상황어절에서 주로 쓰인다.

Sit wherever you like. (동무가 마음드는 곳이면 어디에라도 앉으시오.)

However we do it, the result is the same. (아무리 해도 결과는 매한가지이다.)

I'll see you, whenever you like to come. (오고싶을 때면 언제든지 당신을 만나겠습니다.)

Enough와 too

Enough는 형용사 또는 부사뒤에서 쓰인다.

I can't run very far. I'm not fit enough.

Let's go. We've waited long enough.

Too는 형용사 또는 부사앞에서 쓰인다.

This is too heavy.

He speaks too quickly.

Too와 not … enough를 비교하여보자.

You never stop working. You work too hard. (필요한것보다 더 한다는것)

You're lazy. You don't work hard enough. (필요한것보다 못한다는것) Enough와 too는 for somebody / something과 함께 쓰일수 있다.

We haven't got enough time for the work.

Is Joe experienced enough for the job?

This shirt is too big for me. I need a smaller size.

미정사가 enough나 too와 함께 쓰이면 결과상황어가 된다.

He is tall enough to touch it. (그는 키가 커서 그것을 다칠수 있다.)

He is old enough to go to school. (그는 나이가 되여서 학교에 갈수 있다.)

You're too young to do such a thing. (너는 너무 어려서 그런 일을 하지 못한다.)

The box is too heavy to carry. (그 통은 너무 무거워서 나를수 없다.)

명사의 복수형만들기

명사의 복수형은 덧붙이수법과 소리바꿈수법에 의하여 만들어진다.

△ 덧붙이를 붙여 복수형을 만드는 법

복수를 만드는 덧붙이로서는 뒤붙이 '-(e)s, -en, -s'의 세가지가 있다.

① '-(e)s'에 의한 복수조성

map – maps   book – books   tent – tents   pen – pens

· '-s, -ss, -ch, -tch, -sh, -x'로 끝나는 명사를 복수로 만들 때에는 '-es'를 덧붙이며 [ɪz] 로 발음한다.

bus – buses   bench – benches   dish – dishes   box - boxes · 유성자음이나 모음으로 끝나는 명사를 복수로 만들 때에는 '-s'를 덧붙이며 [z]로 발음한다.

rooms [ru:mz]   hands [hændz]   bees [bi:z]   cars [kɑ:z]

· '-y'로 끝나고 그앞에 자음이 오면 '-y'를 'i'로 고치고 '-es'를 덧붙인다.

baby – babies   study – studies

그러나 '-y'앞에 모음이 오면 '-y'를 'i'로 고치지 않는다.

boy – boys   play – plays

· '-o'로 끝나는 명사에는 '-s / -es'를 붙인다.

'-s'를 붙이는 경우

solo – solos   video – videos   kangaroo – kangaroos

piano – pianos

'-es'를 붙이는 경우

tomato – tomatoes   potato – potatoes   hero – heroes

echo – echoes

'-s' 또는 '-es' 를 붙이는 경우

zero – zero(e)s   volcano – volcano(e)s   buffalo – buffalo(e)s · '-f'로 끝나는 명사는 'f'를 'v'로 바꾸고 '-(e)s'를 덧붙인다.

calf – calves   knife – knives   leaf – leaves   self – selves

② '-s'에 의한 복수조성

수자, 기호 및 략자가 명사로 될 때 그의 복수형은 '-s'를 붙이고 [z]로 발음한다.

s’s (s들)　　MP’s (MP들)　　8’s (8들)　　→’s (→ 들)

③ ‘-en’에 의한 복수조성

child – children　ox – oxen

△ 소리바꿈법에 의하여 복수형을 만드는 법

① 모음을 바꾸어 복수형을 만든다.

man – men　woman – women　goose – geese　tooth – teeth ② 자음과 모음을 바꾸어 복수형을 만든다.

mouse – mice　louse – lice

병렬접속사 (Coordinate Conjunctions)

병렬접속사는 단어와 구, 절을 련결하는 기능을 수행하는 접속사이다.

병렬접속사는 의미와 기능에 따라 련결접속사, 선택접속사, 반의접속사로 분류할수 있다.

△ 련결접속사

련결접속사에는 and, both ... and ..., as well as, not only ... but also 등이 속한다.

① and (단어, 구, 절을 련결한다.)

You and I are satisfied with the result. (동무도 나도 그 결과에 만족이다.)

It rains and rains. (비가 계속 온다.)

② both … and … (…도 …도)

This book is both interesting and instructive. (이 책은 재미도 있고 교양적가치도 있다.)

③ as well as… (…도 역시)

He as well as you is right. (너는 물론 그도 역시 옳다.)

④ not only … but also… (…뿐만아니라 … 도)

A book is not only a silent teacher, but also an eternal fellow traveller. (책은 말없는 스승일뿐아니라 영원한 길동무이다.)

△ 선택접속사

선택접속사에는 or, either … or …, neither … nor … 등이 속한다.

① or (둘 가운데서 하나를 선택한다는 뜻을 나타낸다.)

Will you take tea or coffee? (차를 드시겠습니까, 커피를 드시겠습니까?)

② either … or … (둘 가운데서 하나의 뜻을 강조하기 위해 쓰인다.)

You may have either an apple or a pear. (동무는 사과나 배 가운데서 어느것을 들어도 좋다.)

③ neither … nor… (두 대상을 다 부정하는 경우에 쓰인다.)

Neither he nor I am in the wrong. (그 동무나 나나 잘못하지 않았다.)

△ 반의접속사

여기에는 but, yet, however, while, whereas 등이 속한다.

① but (보통 반대, 대조 등을 나타낸다.)

He is young, but (he is) bold. (그는 나이가 어리지만 대담하다.)

② yet

That may please you, yet you cannot take. (그것이 동무의 마음에 들어도 여전히 가질수 없다.)

③ however (but와 뜻이 같으나 문장안에서 반점으로 고립되는 경우가 많다.)

I can not, however, approve of your design. (그러나 나는 동무의 계획을 찬성할수 없다.)

④ while, whereas

I learn English, while my sister learns French. (나는 영어를 배우지만 나의 누이동생은 프랑스어를 배운다.)

I like playing the guitar, whereas you like singing. (나는 기타타기를 좋아하지만 동무는 노래부르기를 좋아한다.)

종속접속사 (Subordinate Conjunctions)

종속접속사는 주어절과 종속절을 련결시키는 접속사이다.

△ 주어절을 이끄는 접속사

That we shall succeed is sure. (우리가 성공하리라는것은 확실하다.)

Whether Juche is established or not is a vital question of our nation. (주체를 세우는가 못세우는가 하는것은 우리 민족에게 있어서 사활적인 문제이다.)

△ 술사절을 이끄는 접속사

I feel as if my head were burning. (나는 머리가 터지는것만 같다.)

The trouble is that he differs from you. (곤난한것은 그가 동무와 의견을 달리하는것이다.)

△ 보어절을 이끄는 접속사

I will ask him whether he will come or not. (나는 그가 오겠는지 안 오겠는지 물어보겠다.)

He told me that he solved the problem. (그는 그 문제를 풀었다고 말했다.)

△ 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

① 시간을 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· when (… 할 때)

It was raining when we started. (우리가 떠나자 비가 오고있었다.)

· while (… 동안에)

Make hay while the sun shines. (해가 날 때 건초를 말리우자.) (속담: 때를 놓치지 말라.)

· as (…하면서, …따라서, …하는 동안)

He smiled as he spoke. (그는 말하면서 웃었다.)

As time passed, her fears gradually died away. (시간이 감에 따라 그녀자의 공포심은 점차 사라졌다.)

· as soon as (…하자마자)

Harry was unemployed as soon as he graduated. (해리는 졸업하자마자 실업당했다.)

· before (…전에)

The train left before I arrived. (기차는 내가 도착하기 전에 떠났다.)

· after (…후에)

The day was very beautiful after I came here. (내가 여기에 온 다음날은 날씨가 매우 좋았다.)

· till과 until (둘 다 거의 같은 뜻으로 쓰인다.)

Let's wait till(until) the rain stops. (비가 멎을 때까지 여기서 기다립시다.)

· since (…한 이래에, …한 후로부터)

It was ten years since he had left. (그가 떠난후로부터 10년이 지났다.)

② 장소를 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· where (= at the place at which)

Remain where you are. (있는 곳에 그대로 있으라.)

· wherever (= at any place at which)

Wherever you are, do your best. (어디에 가있던지 최선을 다하라.)

③ 원인 또는 리유를 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· because (why에 대한 대답이나 결과에 대한 필연적인 원인을 말할 때 쓰인다.)

Why were you absent yesterday? Because I was ill. (왜 어제 결석하였습니까? 앓아서 결석하였습니다.)

· as (리유가 명백히 알려진것에 쓰이며 문장의 앞머리에 쓰인다.)

As he is ill, he will not come. (그는 앓으므로 오지 않는다.)

· since (리유가 알려져있는 자연적인것, 응당한것에 쓰이며 항상 문장의 앞에 온다.)

Since you say so, I must believe it. (동무가 그렇게 말한 이상 나는 그것을 믿어야지.)

· now (that) (=since)

Now (that) you have come, we can start our work. (네가 왔으니 우리는 일을 시작할수 있다.)

· seeing that (= since)

Seeing that he is a mere child, it is not safe to let him go there alone. (그가 어린애에 지나지 않으니 거기로 혼자 가게 하는것은 안전하지 못하다.)

④ 결과를 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· so + adjective / adverb + that

He was so diligent that he was loved by us. (그는 부지런하여 모든 사람들의 사랑을 받았다.)

· so that

A great storm arose, so that the ships were wrecked. (큰 폭풍이 일어나 배는 다 부서졌다.)

· such + noun + that

He is such a diligent man that everybody loves him. (그는 매우 부지 런한 사람이여서 누구나 그를 사랑한다.)

⑤ 목적을 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

이 접속사가 이끄는 절에는 조동사 may, can 등이 온다.

· that (글체)

He worked hard that he might succeed. (그는 성공하기 위하여 열심히 일했다.)

· so that that보다 목적의 뜻이 강하다.

He works so hard that he may overfulfil his plan. (그는 계획을 넘쳐 수행하기 위하여 열심히 일한다.)

· in order that

He studied hard in order that he could enter the university. (그는 종합대학에 입학하기 위하여 열심히 공부하였다.)

· lest ... should (…하지 않기 위하여)

Work hard lest you should fail. (락제하지 않도록 열심히 공부하라.)

⑥ 조건을 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· if

If I do not understand what he says, I always ask him. (나는 그의 말이 리해되지 않으면 늘 그에게 묻는다.)

· unless (= if ... not)

I will not go unless you go. (동무가 가지 않으면 나도 가지 않겠다.)

· in case

Hurry along in case you should get a good seat. (좋은 자리를 잡겠으면 빨리 서두르라.)

· so long as (= if only)

You won't fall so long as you hold on tight. (꽉 붙잡고만 있으면 넘어지지 않는다.)

· once (= if once)

Once you hesitate, you are lost. (한번 주저하면 실패다.)

⑦ 양보상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· though

Though it was late, we decided to set out. (늦었지만 우리는 출발하 기로 결정했다.)

· although (though와 같지만 보다 강한 뜻을 나타낸다.)

Although it rained a lot, we continued our march.
(비가 많이 왔지만 우리는 행군을 계속하였다.)

Although와 though는 접속사이므로 이것들 다음에는 절(주어 + 술어)이 오지만 같은 양보의 뜻을 가지는 in spite of와 despite는 전치사이므로 이것들 다음에는 명사 또는 명사와 같은 기능을 수행하는 단어들이 온다.

In spite of the rain, we enjoyed our holiday.
(비가 왔지만 우리는 명절을 즐겁게 보냈다.)

Dick didn't get the job in spite of having the necessary qualifications.
(디크는 필요한 자격증들이 있었지만 일자리를 얻지 못했다.)

Despite the bad traffic we arrived on time.
(교통이 나쁘지만 우리는 제시간에 도착하였다.)

입말에서는 though를 때때로 문장끝에 쓰기도 한다.

The house isn't very nice. I like the garden though.
(집은 아주 훌륭하지 못하지만 나는 정원을 좋아한다.)

I see them every day, I've never spoken to them though.
(나는 그들을 매일 만나지만 그들에게 말을 해본적이 없다.)

· as Angry as he was, he patiently persuaded them.

(그는 성이 났지만 인내성있게 그들을 설복하였다.)

· whether ... or (not)

You must do it whether you will or not. (동무는 좋든 싫든 그것을 해야 한다.)

⑧ 비교를 나타내는 상황어절을 이끄는 접속사

· as … so

As three is to five, so is six to ten. (3과 5의 비률은 6과 10의 비률과 같다.)

· as … as

The child is as lovely as a doll. (그 애는 인형처럼 예쁘다.)

· not so … as

It is not so good as that. (그것은 저것처럼 그렇게 좋지 못하다.)

· than

You are taller than he is. (동무는 그보다 키가 더 크다.)

동격접속사 (Appositive Conjunction) that 동격접속사 that는 관계대명사 that와 마찬가지로 규정어절을 이끌며 규정받는 단어인 선행사를 가진다.

그러나 관계대명사는 규정어절에서 문장성분이 되지만 동격접속사는 규정어절에서 문장성분이 되지 못한다.

① The letter that came this morning.

② The fact that the delegation came this morning.

①에서 that는 관계대명사이므로 규정어절에서 주어로 된다. 그러나 ②에서 that는 동격접속사이므로 규정어절에서 그 어떤 문장성분도 되지 못한다. 동격접속사가 이끄는 규정어절의 선행사는 항상 추상명사로 된다. 동격규정어절은 추상명사인 선행사를 동격적으로 설명해준다.

선행사로 쓰이는 추상명사들은 다음과 같다.

We know the fact that he is a capable engineer. (우리는 그가 능력있는 기사이라는 사실을 안다.)

The question that they should be sent is under discussion. (그들을 보내는 문제는 토의중에 있다.)

We have the conviction that Comrade Sim will carry out the task without fail. (우리는 심동무가 그 과업을 반드시 수행하리라는 확신을 가지고있다.)

'-ing' 절 ('-ing' Clauses)

'-ing' 절은 어떤 사람이나 장소, 물건을 해설할 때 리용할수 있다.

The boy sitting next to me is called Nam Su.

The bus standing at the bus stop leaves in five minutes.

'-ing' 절은 일반적으로 관계사절과 같이 규정어의 기능을 수행한다.

The boy sitting next to me ... = The boy who is sitting next to me ...

The bus standing at the bus stop ... = The bus that is standing at the bus stop ...

앞붙이와 뒤붙이들 (Prefixes and Suffixes)

단어에 일정한 앞붙이 또는 뒤붙이를 붙여 새로운 단어를 만들수 있다.

실례로 동사 depend에 뒤붙이 -ence를 붙여 명사: dependence를 만들며 앞붙이 in-을 붙여 명사 independence를 만든다.

앞붙이와 뒤붙이들을 잘 알면 새 단어들을 리해하는데서와 많은 단어들을 기억하는데 도움이 된다.

다음표에 가장 많이 쓰이는 앞붙이와 뒤붙이를 준다.
